BROOKHART NOT TAMED, HE SAYS, BY SENATE LIFE

More Resolute than Ever in Policies.

BY GRAYTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—(Special.)—Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, one of the new Republican senators, has not been "tamed by responsibility" as a result of his first three months in the United States senate. "Not, say he, will he be 'tamed' by his future service in the halls of the national legislature. Mr. Brookhart, by his actual experience in congress, is more convinced than ever that the 'common people' do not get a square deal from legislation, and he says he is going to fight harder than ever for principles he believes must be adopted if the public is to be served.

His Future Goal Told.
The new Iowa senator replied to the question in a characteristic interview in which he proposed the organization of four classes of the "common people" into a gigantic "militant and united political force" to compel congress to do its bidding—an alliance of the farmers, the labor organizations, the middle class, and the "economic cooperation" as a goal of achievement.

He helped the people get what he considers to be their just rights. Senator Brookhart declared he was ready to sound a call to the "balled box" in every state in the union, with the live issue to be found in the questions of cooperative control of production, marketing, credit, transportation, and marketing.

Against "Entrenched Classes."
"What is your outlook as a new senator of the United States?" Senator Brookhart was asked.
"My fight for a seat in the United States senate," he replied, "was made upon a platform directly and unequivocally in the interest of the farmers, the laborers, the ex-soldiers and the southern of Iowa, and the United States. It is not uncommon for politicians to declare for the common people, but it is rather uncommon to name them so distinctly.

"This position called down upon me the charge of being a radical and a promoter of class distinctions.
"I looked over the situation and from my standpoint the financial classes were already deeply entrenched in every department of our government and I decided it was radicalism and class government to leave them there. I could see no other practical way of getting them out except to organize these greater classes of the common people to demand and take their just rights at the ballot box.

Compares It to Kaiserism.
"The situation was to me quite parallel to that of Kaiserism and militarism before the war. I am not a believer in militarism. I am a believer in the strongest kind, and yet three times I volunteered to go out and serve in war for my country. The last time, in the world war, I could see no way to overthrow Prussian militarism except by the organization of a greater and more powerful military force; hence I joined it.

"In the same way I could see no way of ending the financial rule of our country except by the organization of a militant and united political force. It was these views that made them call me a radical, but I don't care what they call me. Many of them tempered their charge with the statement that I was elected I would be 'tamed by responsibility' and my radical tendencies would undergo an evolution to conservatism, as in the case of so many other senators.

Conversion Out of the Saddle.
"After the election was over, and nearly all these metamorphosed senators were defeated, this theory does not seem so powerful, even to the politician whose highest motive is to protect his own political future. It would be a man named who would want to turn over to the conservative view over.

Under these circumstances my so-called radicalism did not disturb the when I first entered it immediately after the election. There was even a protest when I called the administration policy of forcing through the people a filibuster against the would fight it even with a counter filibuster. This seemed to be expected of me because I had promised such a course. I had promised such a course.

$2,500,000 SET ASIDE TO BEGIN WITHOUT DELAY

Aldermen Hope for Quick Decision.

Actual subway construction before the end of the year was forecast yesterday by the city council.

The city council, which voted unanimously to insert an item of $2,500,000 for subway work in the 1923 budget.

The action was taken on motion of Ald. U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the city council local.

Ald. U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the city council local, and author of the transportation bill, said that the city council had secured by the properties.

Ald. Schwartz explained that before work can begin money will be needed for the employment of lawyers and engineers in connection with the drawing of plans and the letting of contracts.

He said that if the voters approve some of the $2,500,000 appropriation can be used to buy spades and pay laborers actually engaged in construction work before the advent of 1924.

Sponsors Economical Plan.
On two occasions the local transportation committee has discussed recommending an appropriation for subway construction of at least $10,000,000.

Ald. Schwartz, however, said that not more than $2,500,000 could be spent wisely this year. The appropriation, if the council approves the finance committee's recommendation, will be taken from the $20,000,000 traction fund built up by contributions from the surface lines under the 1907 franchise ordinance.

Engineers for the local transportation committee are now engaged on a redraft of subway plans and surface and elevated line betterments and extensions as recommended by the Chicago council. Those in charge of the plan, however, probably will not make it public in the midst of the majority campaign, but will lay it before the newly elected as affording an excellent opportunity to better the city's transportation system at once, if he is so minded.

To Pay F. H. O'Donnell.
The finance committee yesterday approved an appropriation of $2,000 asked by Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Eitelson for the expense of prosecuting William H. Green and Otto Novotny, firemen and alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan, who are soon to be put on trial before the city civil service commission. It is understood that most of the money is to go to pay the salary and expenses of Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell, who has been retained as a special assistant corporation counsel to prosecute the cases.

The committee voted to ask the board of education to take over the management of several of the city's small parks on the ground that the state legislature has given the board the proceeds of a special tax to maintain the playgrounds.

BOYNTON WILL GIVE $650,000 TO RELATIVES
Under the will of Charles T. Boynton, Highland Park steel man, filed for probate in Waukegan yesterday, only $650,000 in personal property is listed. The greater part of his estate, reported to be worth more than $10,000,000, was disposed of before his death.

Mrs. Annie E. Boynton, the widow, is bequeathed the furnishings in "Ravenna," the Highland Park home. Bequests of $50,000 each were made to Walter A. Boynton, Chicago, a brother; Mrs. Louis Sanford, Chicago, a sister; Theodore B. and Willis S. Boynton, nephews of Dixon, Ill.; Mrs. C. N. Traver and Florence Boynton, cousins, of Hudson, N. Y.; and Mrs. Howard Fisher, Queensstown, Ont.

Under a trust fund the income from $200,000 annually goes to the widow; and three other trust funds of $75,000 each are created; the income from which goes to Mrs. Everett L. Miller, Highland Park, and Miss Edith Boynton, daughters; and Donald, Mrs. Millard, Dorland, and the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank are named executors.

ANOTHER RECKLESS DRIVER

ADMITS $800,000 THEFTS, POLICE SAY; BANK 'GONE'

Springfield, O., March 8.—A. H. Penfield, cashier of the Springfield National bank, from which he confessed, according to officials, to having taken $800,000 in Liberty bonds, was arraigned today on a federal charge of embezzlement and pleaded not guilty.

The arraignment took place at Penfield's home, where he is recovering after an attempt to commit suicide. Bond set at $25,000 was not furnished, and he will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Floyd Johnston here on March 20. A policeman was stationed at the Penfield home tonight.

The bank, which closed its doors Tuesday, is gone, according to a statement today by George S. Dial, director and one of the principal stockholders.

U. S. Refuses Checks.
Cincinnati, O., March 8.—Checks aggregating $30,000 were on their way back to taxpayers in and around Springfield, O., today having been refused by Internal Revenue Collector Charles M. Dean. They were sent in as payment on taxable incomes and drawn on the Springfield National bank, which has closed its doors.

Collector Dean explained that the persons paying their income taxes on checks drawn on the bank would have to find some other means of paying the government before March 15 or be declared delinquents.

GOTHAM BANKER TO MARRY GIRL ONCE AN ACTRESS
Boston, Mass., March 8.—(Special.)—Miss Rose Le Saltonstall, daughter of Mrs. Philip Saltonstall of Boston, will be married to William Chapman Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Philip Weld, in Dedham at noon Saturday.

Miss Saltonstall was once on the professional stage and during the World war, went to Europe and for fifteen months, with her own company, gave entertainments for soldiers. Since then she has been with the concern of Jeremiah Skidmore, coal distributors, in New York, where she had charge of the order department.

DEVER GAINS IN MAYORALTY POLL

Lueder, However, Retains His Lead on Total.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Tribune's pre-campaign poll of the voters, of which the first day's results were published yesterday, created unusual interest among the tens of thousands concerned about the identity of the next mayor of Chicago.

The canvass of the second day, taken at the first show of all of the Ascher Brothers theaters last night, gave William E. Dever, the Democratic candidate, a lead over Lueder.

The vote the first day, obtained at the Lubliner & Trinz theaters, showed Arthur C. Lueder, the Republican entry, as the high man.

Results to Date.

The results of the two days, separately and combined, for each of the three candidates are as follows:

Candidate	First Day	Second Day	Total
Lueder	1,910	1,217	3,127
Dever	1,994	1,542	3,536
Cunneen	187	143	330

Total 5,941 5,782 6,688
In the first day's work Lueder received 49.9 per cent of the total votes cast and Dever 45.5 per cent. The positions were exactly changed yesterday, when Dever obtained 49.6 per cent of the votes cast and Lueder the 45 per cent.

Poll Without Bias.

Political propagandists who did not like the figures of the first day were busy yesterday. Possibly the other side will dislike the results yesterday and they, too, will begin talking.

Let it be repeated: The purpose of the canvass is to ascertain, without bias and for its news value exclusively, the relative amount of popular sentiment favoring each of the three candidates for mayor before they have really started their campaigns.

A plan to raise African zebras in the Lincoln park zoo was announced yesterday by Alfred E. Parker, director. Parker said he had contracted to buy a Chapman South African zebra mare as a mate for "Pete," the only animal of the breed now in the park.

"Zebras are worth on the average $1,500 each," he said.

George Meets Leaders at Astor Party

LONDON, March 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The king and queen for the first time in their lives broke bread with the labor members of parliament tonight in the home of one of their subjects. The occasion was a dinner given by Viscount and Lady Astor, at which their majesties met among others James Henry Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railway Men; John Robert Clynes, president of the National Union of General Workers and former labor leader in the house; Philip Snowden, and their wives.

Labor came in silken knee breeches, which was jokingly described as a concession, and there also were present those who wear the cherished garb—Balfour, Salisbury, and Grey of Falden.

King Wished Meeting.
The affair, unique in British social history, was arranged as much to permit the king and queen to meet in social intercourse with the laborites as to allow the laborites to come into social contact with their rulers. It was said that the king had made known his desire to meet the leaders of the labor party in such a manner.

Lady Astor, whose campaign for political honors was characterized by much banter, greeted the laborites when they appeared in knee breeches with joking remarks. She whispered "Pull up your stockings" in the ear of Mr. Thomas and even inquired of the Canadian high commissioner, Mr. Larken, if his stockings were on straight.

The American ambassador, George Harvey, escaped remarks from the black knickerbockers because he has frequently appeared in them and has become a familiar figure in the customary court dress.

"Yes, Your Majesty."
Before the arrival of the king and queen, Lady Astor was heard jokingly telling the laborites how to receive his majesty, advising them to say "Yes, sir" and "No, sir" or "Yes, your majesty" or "No, your majesty."

Viscount Astor escorted the queen to the banquet hall, while Lady Astor entered on the arm of the king. Once she looked back and urged her guests to hurry, for the labor members were apparently expecting that the usual precedence by rank would be in order, while the others—of the nobility—seemed anxious to hold back.

The guests sat at two large round tables amid the fragrance of pink tulips and other blossoms. The diners included, in addition to those mentioned, Prime Minister Bonar Law, the Marquis and Marchioness of Salisbury, the speaker and Mrs. Whitlay, Lady Frances Balfour, Lord and Lady Eustace Percy, Lady Grey of Fallodon, Lord Robert Cecil, Lord and Lady Ingham, Dame Lytton, Mrs. Lloyd George, Sir John and Lady Simon, the lord mayor and lady mayoress of Plymouth, Col. and Mrs. Spender-Clay, and Mrs. Margaret Winttingham, M. P.

To Dine With King.
J. Ramsey MacDonald, labor leader in the house of commons; Mr. Clynes, Mr. Snowden, and Mr. Thomas have accepted invitations to dine with the king and queen at Buckingham palace on March 15, according to the Daily Herald, the labor organ, and a number of labor members of parliament will be at the afternoon party at Buckingham on March 15.

Reply to British Note.
The original British communication of July 18, notifying the Washington government that the exequatur of Balfour and recognition of Brooks would be canceled, is lacking. The American reply of Aug. 11, however, thus repeats the specific charges made by the British:

"In your note you state that this action is to be taken by your government because the American consulate at Newcastle-on-Tyne has been attempting to divert passengers from British to American lines by making difficulties for the issue of visas for the United States to passengers not traveling by American lines, and further, by hinting that inconvenience is likely to be encountered in the United States unless the passengers travel by American lines."

"Allegations Not Substantiated."
It was further shown that actual cancellation had been deferred by the British foreign office until Aug. 18 "in the belief that this government (the United States) may prefer to remove these officers of its own accord."

The American note added that Secretary Hughes had caused an investigation to be made which did not "appear to substantiate the allegations" of the note also requested that "specific evidence to support the allegations" be presented and an opportunity afforded the United States to present its views "in the light of such evidence."

Consul General Nelson T. Johnson reached England about Sept. 15 to conduct a searching investigation of the Newcastle affair, in which coopers tion of the British government was asked.

The next communication is a note of Nov. 9, handed to Lord Curzon by Ambassador Harvey in reply to an unpublished British note of Oct. 19.

"My government," it said, "has noted that the British government expresses its willingness to drop the charge on the understanding that the United States will reopen the consulate with the least possible delay."

"The government of the United States has consistently maintained the position that the exequatur of Mr. Slater and the recognition of Mr. Brooks were withdrawn as the result of specific charges of wrongdoing and that as the action of the British government and the nature of the charges were made public, thus injuring the officers and imputing to the American foreign service practices never authorized, it was incumbent upon my government to satisfy itself with regard to the facts."

"It has been desired of completely establishing the guilt or innocence of the two officers and of disposing of the incident upon its merits."

Objects to "Dropping" of Charges. Mere dropping of the charges was said not to be an acceptable solution to the American government, but it was added that the United States was ready to accept the proposal that the charges be dropped and the consulate be reopened "if the British government will agree to grant an exequatur to Mr. Slater and the recognition to Mr. Brooks as consul and vice consul, respectively, at Newcastle, and to the simultaneous issue of the two capitulations to both governments of the action taken and the reasons therefor."

The British note of December 27, made public by the embassy in reply to this communication, stated that "the purpose of this action was precisely to avoid that publicity which Mr. Harvey appears to deplore."

Thought "Hint" Was Enough. The British note pointed out that the Washington government had been furnished "with an indication of the reasons" for the contemplated action against Slater and Brooks in order to show that "no unfriendly motive underlay the decision," and because it was hoped "a frank exchange of views" would lead to "whatever new regulations might be necessary" to prevent similar incidents with relation to either British or American consuls.

"It was not thought," the note said, "nor could it be admitted, that there should be any question of reviewing the conclusions to which his majesty's government had come after a full consideration of all the facts."

It had been noted, the British note said, that the United States government had drawn from its own investigations "conclusions different from those drawn by his majesty's government, but while regretting this difference of opinion, his majesty's government felt bound to adhere to its original opinion."

SAYS CHARGES TRUMPED UP

LONDON, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—David Adams, Labor member of parliament for the western division of Newcastle and also a prominent shipowner, said today he had personal knowledge that the charges against the former American consular officials at Newcastle were "trumped up" on behalf of a certain British steamship line and that he was finally convinced the British government was unable to substantiate a single one of the allegations which formed the basis of its action in withdrawing the exequaturs of the officials.

"I have personal knowledge," Mr. Adams declared, "that a certain British steamship company sent men to the Newcastle consulate and attempted again and again to bribe the consular officials to refuse to grant visas unless they traveled by American lines."

Attacks Unsigned Affidavit. "In every case, according to the evidence I have been able to gain, they were unable to do so," he said, "either the consul or the vice consul."

Mr. Adams ridiculed the government for having submitted unsigned affidavits as evidence to prove its allegations, saying:

"Such documents would not be considered evidence in any country of the civilized world. If there were really thirty or forty individual cases of the fair discrimination, as the government claims, surely there could be found a few persons that number willing to have their names used, if they were interested travelers."

BALFOUR DENIES HARVEY CHARGES OF INACCURACY

Insists U. S. Made Britain Guarantee Loans.

BY OTIS SWIFT.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1923, By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 8.—[Tribune Radio.]—I am unable myself to find in these words anything which is either misleading or obscure.

Lord Balfour made this statement in the house of lords this evening in reply to the recent declaration of United States Ambassador Harvey that Lord Balfour's statement of Aug. 1, 1922, on the international indebtedness was "misleading and publicly desired the present British government to remove the misapprehension."

Reads the Sentence. Lord Balfour, whose remarks the lords cheered, read his speech from a manuscript. It was more in the nature of a personal explanation. He read to the house the actual sentence of which Mr. Harvey complained, as follows:

"Under an arrangement arrived at in the United States I insisted in substance, if not in form, that, though our allies were to spend the money, it was only on our security that they were prepared to lend it."

"I think your lordships will agree with me," Lord Balfour said, "when so important a personage—a statesman so highly placed—in the official position and with such special importance in this connection as that of the ambassador of the United States, declared that the statement made by me in my dispatch was misleading, silence on my part would probably lead to a misunderstanding."

Might Be Dark. Lord Balfour said it was perfectly true that the words referred to were compressed, and that without knowing all the circumstances in the case their full import may not be easy to determine, "but I do not think they deserve strictures passed upon them by his excellency."

Lord Balfour went into some length into the details of the circumstances under which Great Britain became responsible for the payment of the allied war materials purchased in the United States. When America came fresh into the war the British government had seen a way to adopt this plan there would have been no loan from America to Great Britain.

Lord Balfour considered the transactions were not inadequately summarized in the August note. He thought, however, there was a deeper difference between Mr. Harvey and himself than the mere phrase, "The arrangement was not adequately summarized in the August note."

270 BULGARS DIE

BELGRADE, March 7.—[United Press.]—Two hundred and seventy Bulgarian "comitatus" have been killed and a large number taken prisoner in fighting with Jugo-Slav troops along the Serbian border.

The Bulgarian irregulars, numbering about 1,500, are reported advancing across the frontier near Tsarevo Selo. Jugo-Slav reinforcements have been ordered up to repulse the invaders.

Jugo-Slavia has made representation to the league of nations concerning activities of outlaw bands harassing the border towns.

baseador seemed to regard the financial arrangements between the partners in the great war as isolated undertakings, to be separately adjusted, if the sanctity of the contract was to be maintained, and considered that the settlement benefited the debtor by improving the general credit.

Lord Balfour said he took a less commercial view. The extraordinary circumstances of the great war seemed to him to remove the financial arrangements from the ordinary category of debtor and creditor.

The house did not discuss his statement.

LONDON, March 8.—[Tribune Radio.]—The British navy estimates for 1923-24, which were issued today, show a reduction of more than $3,000,000 ($37,000,000) as compared with the present year, which is also a reduction of more than $3,134,000 in two years.

The estimates were prepared on the assumption that the Washington naval treaty will be ratified effectively by all the signatory powers. The gross estimates are $1,401,165 ($282,585,155). The air estimates show an increase of $1,116,000 ($5,255,200) to a total of $37,445,500.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
PARIS, March 8.—M. Raiberti, minister of marine, announced in the chamber today that the French government intended to ask parliament to ratify the Washington naval limitations treaty.

Thereupon he laid before the chamber the government's naval building program for 1923, which is in complete conformity with the Washington treaty in all respects, notably with regard to tonnage of line ships and calibers of airplane carriers.

"Our intentions are to ratify the Washington naval treaty, and the government is only waiting for the recovery of M. Guernier, chairman of the chamber's subcommittee studying the treaty, to submit the motion to the chamber," M. Raiberti said in reply to questions.

Deputy Locquin said England and America had taken advantage of France's delay in ratifying the treaty to continue a campaign representing the French as militaristic and imperialistic.

"It is a German propaganda campaign," Deputy Derogé said. "Yes, but it has borne its fruits."

and our delay has created disappointment to the Americans," M. Locquin replied.

"It was a certain disappointment to France when the United States did not ratify the Versailles treaty," Deputy Baillanet retorted.

The program M. Raiberti submitted to the chamber does not provide for the construction of battleships and heavy cruisers, but only for light cruisers. The first lot was authorized by law on April 18 of last year. The second lot will be authorized later. The second part of the naval program, the section for coast defense, and the third part, naval aeronautics, will be submitted later.

The personnel of the British fleet, the first lord of the admiralty said, would be reduced by 20,000 men on April 1.

POLICE GET CITY LEGAL BACKING FOR VICE VIGIL

Ready to Fight Expected
Rain of Injunctions.

Anticipating an avalanche of petitions for injunctions restraining the police from picketing hotels, preparatory to the city council's action on the bill to amend the city charter to give the police the right to picket hotels, the city attorney yesterday issued a statement that the city would not be deterred by such petitions.

The picketing was not permitted to be in any way last night, and in the hope all the hotels not on the picket line would be closed, the police were ordered to picket the hotels under orders to observe persons going in and out.

The attorney of the city of Chicago, William H. Smith, yesterday issued a statement that the city would not be deterred by such petitions.

Attorney Maurice I. Green on behalf of John Smith, proprietor of the Newport hotel, 247-51 West Madison street, one of five at the front and back doors of which patrolmen were stationed on order of Capt. Thomas J. Connelley, of the Warren avenue station.

In his bill Smith claims the picketing is not used for immoral purposes and charges that the police have used of transient trade by numerous arrests.

Answer Woman's Court Plea.

At the same time Assistant Corporation Counsel W. C. Henry filed an answer before Judge Rush to a petition for a similar injunction filed on behalf of John Henry Artis, proprietress of the property at 3229 South Michigan avenue, one of the places picketed on order of Lieut. John McCann of the Stanton avenue station.

Although the Artis petition was filed before Chief Fitzmorris' wholesale issuing order was issued, the outcome of the case will have a direct bearing on the fate of the others which are expected to be filed. Attorney Henry's answer merely sets forth that the case was picketed on complaint of Lieut. McCann, that the case was formerly a resort at another address, and denied the Michigan avenue premises were being used for immoral purposes.

Chief Stands Pat.

While Chief Fitzmorris refused to comment on the picketing of hotels, it was announced at his office that his order toward the loop will be the same as that in the outlying districts, that place complained of will be picketed, and that addresses, whether hotel or rooming houses, "mean nothing to the police except street numbers."

The chief held an hour's conference with Mayor Thompson early in the afternoon. The chief topic of which is said to have been the vice crusade. The total number of policemen on duty still remains at 215.

Indicating that the policy of raiding also would be continued, the police began the evening by entering 221 Prairie avenue and arresting six persons, four women whom they designated as "immates" and two men.

Hotels "Flagrant" Places Closed.

Attorney Harry E. Smoot, counsel for the Juvenile Protective association, said his investigators had reported all of the more flagrant resorts on the south side closed.

Patrolmen were withdrawn from the Paterson hotel during the afternoon, but the guards were kept on duty at the hotel and the Victoria and one at the Astor at 178 North Clark street, was added to the list of guarded places. Other places listed for picketing in the first district were the West Park hotel, 1148 South Michigan street; Bell hotel, 1208 South State street; Carlton hotel, 2138 South Washington avenue; Rex hotel, 224 and State streets; Dreamland, 15th and Dearborn streets; Roosevelt hotel, 15th street and Wabash avenue; Wolf apartments, 1841 Wabash avenue; and houses at 2091 and 2101 South State street.

Guard Thirty-one Places.

Thirty-one places were under guard in Capt. John B. Enright's district, including thirteen in the Stanton avenue territory. In the latter district five whole blocks were thrown under guard because of the large number of suspected places. These were on Indiana between 34th and 35th street and between 31st and 32d streets, and on Dearborn between 31st and 32d streets.

"To put a policeman in front of each house in these blocks would make it look like a police roll call," explained Lieut. McCann, "so we have simply stationed a number of policemen to watch the front and rear doors on the entire blocks mentioned."

Fifteen places in South Chicago were picketed by Capt. Joseph Smith. These included eight places, all on one side of the street along The Strand, from 9002 to 9048, and seven places on Harbor avenue between 9154 and 9216.

On Guard at Madison Street Hotels.

Capt. James E. McCann of the Des Plaines street district reported sixteen places picketed and eleven were on the list of Capt. Pilkington of the Warren avenue station, including, besides the Newport, four other West Madison street hotels—Reliance, West Town, Sterling, and Madison. Seven places were under guard in the Dearborn avenue district, commanded by Capt. Morgan Collins. Besides thirteen places on North Clark street and others on Wells, State, Huron, and Ohio streets, Capt. Collins picketed the New Albany hotel, 513 Rush street, and the Revere house, Clark street and Austin avenue. It was estimated that altogether an attack of grip which was under guard by nightfall.

Taxicabs also were under guard in line with the court results of a previous night's arrest of a driver and several passengers. Police guarding 70 E. 28th street arrested the driver when he pulled up at the place with two fares, and Judge Daniel F. Trude in Municipal court fined the man $50 and each of his patrons $10. Another taxi fare also was fined $10.

Banker Recovered from Sudden Attack of Grip

M. Ernest Greenbaum, member of Greenbaum & Sons, pioneer Chicago banking firm, is on the road to recovery, following an attack of grip which forced him to leave a Chicago and Northwestern railroad train at Boone, Ia., Tuesday and abandon a trip to California.

Taken to a hospital, Mr. Greenbaum remained at Boone until Wednesday night, when he returned to his residence at 4804 Drexel boulevard.

FIELD DIVORCED; AIDS IN CAMERA SMASHING ROW

Son-in-Law Fells Annoyer,
Flee Down 7 Flights.

(Picture on back page.)

Stanley Field, millionaire president of the Field Columbian museum and nephew of Marshall Field, lost a wife but won an encounter with an afternoon newspaper photographer in a hearing of his suit for divorce yesterday before Judge Ira Fryer.

In his plea for freedom from Mrs. Sara Carroll Field, one of the famous "three Brown sisters of Baltimore," Mr. Field was represented by Attorney Colin C. H. Pyffe. In the encounter with the photographer the well known philanthropist was seconded by his son-in-law, Thomas Clifford Rodman, son of Admiral Hugh Rodman, U. S. N., a senior at Lake Forest college, and the floor and demolished the camera.

Effect Private Settlement.

Strict secrecy was observed concerning the details of a property settlement effected between the couple before Mrs. Field filed a formal answer. In this answer she went on record as "neither admitting nor denying the charges, but demanding strict proof thereof," which eliminated all possibility of a contest.

Nervous because of an enforced wait for Judge Ryser, who was engaged in a conference, and trembling with irritation at the presence of newspaper men and photographers at what had been scheduled as a "quiet" hearing, the millionaire mounted the witness stand.

His almost whispered responses to queries by his counsel were scarcely intelligible above the clicking of the battery of cameras which faced him after requests for a "posed" picture had been fruitfully refused.

"We were married on April 17, 1900, at Brookville, a suburb of Baltimore," said Mr. Field in response to questions by Attorney Pyffe. "On Jan. 2, 1921, Mrs. Field left our home at 1550 North State parkway. She told me she was going to leave me for good and in fact she did."

GIRL SPOILS HER KIDNAPER'S DAY, WON'T MARRY HIM

A forceful but unencouraged courtship ended in a denouement yesterday when Frank Scandia, 20 years old, 837 North Wells street, the suitor, and Frank Rogers, 19, 835 North Wells street, were arrested, charged with kidnapping Susie Teucher, 15, Wednesday night.

The resisting Susie was carried to Crown Point in Scandia's automobile, and there a marriage was balked when she told the marriage clerk she would never feel quite right about getting a license since she didn't intend to marry, according to Mrs. Emma Teucher, her mother, who swore out the warrants.

It was planned to make the wedding a double affair, Mrs. Teucher said, Rogers' cousin, Miss Betty Rogers, accompanying them on the trip. The Rogers lost their chance to get a license when Susie kicked over the traces.

Contact Between Airplanes Achieved in Army Test

Minneapolis, N. Y., March 8.—Contact between airplanes flying at reduced speed to prove messages or fuel could be passed from one machine to another, was successfully achieved today at Mitchell field by Lieut. Clyde V. Finter and Lawrence B. Sperry, inventor. Eight contacts were made at various heights during the half hour of tests. Sperry, who piloted a messenger plane weighing 800 pounds, his craft fitted with a wooden upright, and during the tests connected the pole with a metal ladder suspended from the bottom of the larger machine.

TO TIMBUCTOO

Lady Dorothy Mills, novelist, daughter of the Earl of Orford, who is to visit West Africa. She has already explored northern Africa.

brushed aside as Field and Rodman hastened for the courtroom door.

In the corridor the party was surprised by a camera man who had concealed himself in a stairway nearby. Angered at the photographer's persistence, Mr. Field advanced threateningly with a heavy walking stick, but apparently thought better and ran down the stairs past the camera.

Finishes Camera with Toe.

Without warning and before a dozen spectators could intervene, young Rodman, known in exclusive north shore social circles for his athletic prowess, seized the photographer and shouted, "I'll break your neck." After kicking the camera into a corner, where it broke into several pieces, Rodman knocked the camera man to the floor.

Ignoring the elevators, Mr. Field and Rodman descended seven flights of stairs in their haste to leave the county building.

Mr. Field was administrator of the $500,000 fund created by the late Marshall Field for the benefit of the Field museum and is an official of the Civic Opera company. During the war Mr. Field, a heavy contributor to the Red Cross, was commissioned as a major in charge of purchases in France.

U. S. LABOR BOARD AND PENNA. R. R. TO END DISPUTE

Amicable disposal of the dispute of nearly two years' duration between the Pennsylvania railway and the United States railroad labor board was the subject of a conference here yesterday between Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, and E. T. Whittier, acting vice president, and E. H. Senef, general counsel for the road.

The meeting followed the recent United States Supreme court decision upholding the board in its ruling directing the Pennsylvania to place the names of the federated shop crafts on the ballot upon which its shop employees were voting to select representatives.

The carrier, seeking to establish its "company union" as supreme, did not comply with this order, and when the board threatened to rebuke it publicly, obtained a temporary injunction in federal court. This now being dissolved, the board's rebuke may be forthcoming within thirty days, if an adjustment is not made.

It was said "satisfactory progress" was made at yesterday's conference, and that other similar sessions would be held.

Larson Vanishes; Friends Fear Nervous Breakdown

Hospitals and sanitariums in the Chicago district were searched in vain last night for trace of Lewis E. Larson, missing real estate operator, who mysteriously disappeared two days ago.

The suggestion that Mr. Larson may have sought retreat in some sanitarium came from a friend who said that Larson for several weeks has been suffering from overwork and overwrought nerves. Since Mr. Larson retired from the post of secretary of the board of education in 1917 he has been associated with Willoughby & Co., real estate dealers at 79 West Monroe street.

Mr. Larson has not been seen since he left his office about 11 o'clock last Wednesday.

No Motive of Flight Known.

Neither he is groping aimlessly through the fog of a transient memory, it is believed, perhaps in the city near at hand, perhaps many miles away by this time, or is in an institution unless some reason entirely unknown to his family or associates has suddenly occurred to drive him from his home and business.

Credence in the hypothesis of lost memory became strongest late last night, when it was learned from Ralph Otis, a former associate on the school board and a few days ago when I met him he said that he needed to get away for a while and thought of going to a sanitarium.

Continued to Pursue Business.

Instead of going away for a rest, it is thought, the real estate man kept on with his work, and it is possible that the collapse of a brain cell was the price.

For a time Mr. Larson's family believed that he had been called away on a hurried business trip and had been unable to reach his home because it was found their telephone had been out of order on Wednesday afternoon.

A call to the office of Chief of Police Fitzmorris from the National Bank of the Republic saying that Mr. Larson had drawn $200 at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning strengthened this belief for a time.

A holdup at midday in the loop, or on the way home in the evening would by last night have come to the knowledge of the police. Further, earlier reports that Mr. Larson was in the habit of carrying large sums of money were denied.

Fought Thompsonism in Courts.

Mr. Larson was secretary of the school board from 1902 to 1917 and during part of that time was its business manager. He had worked his way up from the position of secretary to the superintendent of schools. In 1917 he shared with Jacob M. Loeb and Attorney Angus Roy Shannon the displeasure of the growing Thompson power and after a battle which went into the courts was forced to resign.

On the termination of his connection with the board of education he entered the employ of Willoughby & Co. and in the fall of 1922 was made a partner and general manager. He has been engaged in renting space in the new Temple building, for which his firm is agent.

H. A. Stedman, a friend living in Rogers Park, said yesterday that he had driven Mr. Larson to the Willoughby offices Wednesday morning. He appeared in good health, Mr. Stedman declared, and had said or done nothing which would give cause for uneasiness as to his mental condition.

His wife, nearing a nervous collapse, waited at her home at 521 Central avenue, Wilmette, all day yesterday and far into the night waiting for a telephone call that did not come. A

CORONER IN NEW PLEA FOR AID TO CHECK SPEEDERS

Three More Deaths Raise Toll to 112.

Cook county's automobile fatality record mounted yesterday to 112 for the year when three persons died as results of injuries sustained in accidents.

An unidentified man about 22 years old was almost instantly killed when he was struck by a taxicab driven by Ray Flarkey, 2229 Harlem avenue, while crossing Milwaukee avenue at Racine avenue, and thrown in the path of an American Express company truck. Flarkey and the truck driver, Robert E. Cooney, 2210 Walnut street, are being held.

Frank Stalowski, 16 years old, living at 3223 South Ashland avenue, died a few hours after he had been crushed by a freight truck at 21st place and Ashland boulevard. In the excitement which followed the accident the driver of the truck escaped.

Injuries Fatal to Woman.
Miss Lena Reese, 33 years old, 1025 Townsend avenue, died in the county hospital after lingering since Feb. 21 with a fractured skull. The aged spinster, according to police records, was struck when at Sedgwick and Sloger streets by a motor truck owned and operated by Michael Mervay, 1850 Orchard street. Mervay was not held. Financial assistance from public spirited citizens and civic organizations will reduce the county's ever increasing death toll from careless or reckless motorists, declared Coroner Oscar Wolff yesterday.

"Despite the fact that automobile deaths have increased by leaps and bounds from 350 a year four years ago to 746 last year, provisions for increased assistance in combating the peril was refused the coroner's office by the judges' committee," said Coroner Wolff, outlining his plea for investigators.

Rewards Ering Action.
"As an example of the efficacy of reward money in the apprehension of 'vampire' motorists who kill and run away to kill another day, let me cite the record of October, November, and December last year, when thirteen 'vampire' drivers killed pedestrians and have not been arrested yet.

"As a result of the offer of a $500 reward for the arrest of a specific killer all four of the 'vampire' drivers who figured in accidents during January were arrested and three of the six cowardly killers in February were apprehended. And yet the establishment of a $30,000 reward fund asked of the county commissioners was refused."

EXPERTS FIGHT TRIBUNE SUIT ON TECHNICALITY

Attorneys for two of the three Faherty real estate experts—Ernest H. Lyons and Arthur S. Merigold—argued yesterday before Judge Hugo M. Friend that their clients ought not to be compelled to answer in a chancery court to allegations made by THE TRIBUNE, in respect to the half million dollars in fees already collected by each of them, and more in prospect. Arguments arose on demurrers of the defendant experts, attempting to knock out the case as it stands.

The contention in behalf of the experts was that the charges made by THE TRIBUNE in one section of the bill of complaint allege conspiracy. Attorney J. C. Farwell, counsel for Ernest Merigold, asserted that "the bill reeks with attacks of fraud directed against the mayor, the so-called Thompson-Lundin machine, Corporation Counsel Ertel, the board of local improvements, and these poor defendants."

Content Crime Is Alleged.
Upon this theory, Attorney F. M. Lowe, representing Expert Lyons, insisted that the bill alleged a crime and that a chancery court could not take jurisdiction, and that the defendants could not be compelled to give evidence that might be used against themselves in a criminal action. Attorney Farwell, backed up by Attorney Farwell, arguing the demurrers to the bill of THE TRIBUNE, thereupon contended that the proceedings must be stopped by Judge Friend.

Attorney Farwell, moreover, asserted to the court that the experts have more cash coming to them, the amount of which he did not state. The original bill sets out that the experts have collected at least $580,000 each. Unofficial estimates are that the balance that is to be claimed, in case the experts win the present fight, is in the neighborhood of $400,000 aggregate, of an eventual total of more than $2,000,000 for real estate fees if the legal going is good for the experts.

One Angle of Case.
An interesting legal feature of yesterday's arguments, it is said, is that the experts, for the first time, have initiated in court proceedings that they might be subject to criminal prosecution. Pinned down to the definite question by Attorney Howard Ellis for the complainant, Attorney Lowe did not say that he pleaded constitutional right of the experts to refuse to answer on the ground that their answers might incriminate them, but that the bill did charge a criminal conspiracy and therefore did not come properly before a chancery court.

One of the features of the league is a committee of prominent men to read dubious and suspected books and report their impressions to the public.

NO HINT OF FOUL PLAY IN ANDERSON DEATH IS FOUND

Gustave A. Anderson, 33 years old, of Algonquin, Ill., was accidentally burned to death when gasoline in the bottom of his car became ignited, according to a verdict of a coroner's jury at Palatine yesterday. Anderson's charred body was found in the half-burned machine on a lonely road near Buttermilk Corners late Wednesday night.

Witnesses said the car was stalled by the roadside and that Anderson, on route to Chicago in search of a housekeeper for his three motherless children, was awaiting aid. It is believed that he ignited the gasoline when striking a match to light a cigarette.

BARASA JOINS LUEDER'S CAMP; PLEDGES HELP

New Campaign Force of 200 Being Formed.

Selection of a new campaign committee of from 200 to 300 members and the lining up of Judge Bernard P. Barasa were the outstanding developments yesterday in the campaign of Arthur C. Lueder, Republican majority candidate.

Within three hours of his return to Chicago after a week's vacation, Mr. Lueder was in conference with the leaders of all factions of the Republican party and the outcome of the meeting was that the former postmaster will go to the polls as a harmony candidate, backed by the support of a united party.

The conference, held in the offices of Attorney General Edward V. Brundage, was attended by Mr. Lueder, Mr. Brundage, Homer K. Galpin, Roy O. West, Joseph Haas, former Gov. Charles F. Deneen, George F. Harney, Charles V. Barrett, and State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

Barasa Joins Camp.

While the meeting was in session Judge Barasa, one of Mr. Lueder's opponents at the primary, arrived and promised the candidate his entire support.

Selection of the campaign committee, which is to include representative citizens from every walk of life, every ward in the city, and every faction of the party, will be in the hands of a committee of three representing the Harding, Brundage-Crowe, and the Deneen groups. Mr. Galpin will represent the Brundage-Crowe organization. At the same time plans were agreed upon for the adding of names to the executive committee, of which Mr. Galpin is the head, and the adoption of a platform for Mr. Lueder. Mr. Crowe, Mr. Deneen, and Mr. Brundage will decide upon the platform which is expected to be in shape today or tomorrow.

Noon Mass Meeting.

The Lueder campaign will get actively under way on Thursday, March 15, with a noon mass meeting in the House of Commons. At this meeting, Mr. Lueder will appear, and Mr. Brundage, Judge Barasa, and Arthur M. Millard, Mr. Lueder's opponents at the primary, will be invited to speak. The present plans call for no ward meetings until Monday, March 19, when Mr. Lueder will start on a comprehensive canvass of the entire city, which will take him into each of the fifty wards.

Plans for the campaign of Judge William E. Dever, the Democratic candidate, were discussed with considerable frankness yesterday at a meeting of the Democratic county central committee and Chairman Martin J. O'Brien didn't mince any words in telling the committeemen that they had to get busy.

A poll of the wards showed that many had not applied to headquarters for canvass books, pledge cards or other campaign literature, and Mr. O'Brien pointedly stated that if results were not shown before the next meeting, new organizations would be put in the backward wards.

"Over-confidence has defeated many candidates," Mr. O'Brien and other speakers warned, "and while Judge Dever is the logical candidate for mayor and should be elected, we must not get to fight. We can't afford to let up for a single minute."

Announcement of two citizens' committees which will share in the management of the Dever campaign is to be made within the next few days.

SHEIK TO WED WINIFRED HERE FIRST OF WEEK

Rudolph Denies He's a Heart Breaker.

Rudolph Valentino and Miss Winifred Hudnut, the actor's dancing partner, will be married in Chicago on Monday or Tuesday. The announcement was made yesterday by Mr. Valentino following receipt of information from the Pacific coast that a divorce had been granted legally separating him from Mrs. Jean Acker Valentino, his first wife.

Although the sheik and Miss Hudnut cannot be married until the divorce has been obtained, the actor has been officially entered upon the California law book, a process that will be accomplished Monday, they are making preparations for the ceremony.

Denies He Broke Contract.

"It will be a quiet little affair," said Mr. Valentino yesterday.

Along with the announcement of the wedding plans the sheik gave information as to his present situation in the world of entertainment.

"In the first place, I would like to state that I have never broken a contract," he said. "I broke no contract with the management of the Trianon. My contract had expired, and setting about to find more employment, I naturally took the highest bidder. There can be nothing wrong in that. A man is entitled to the best price he can get."

Girls Not Crazy Over Him.

"Another thing I would like to have made plain is the fact that I have never said that all of the girls in America are crazy about me. Why, a man would be a fool to make such a statement. I have friends, it is true. But the girls that like the sheik are not in love with me; they are in love with the role I act. They like the romance, the romance of the desert that went with the sheik. See?"

RUDOLPH VALENTINO.

FRENCH GRIP ON RUHR FAILS TO PRODUCE COAL

After 8 Weeks Get Less than Before Advance.

BULLETIN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
DUSSELDORF, March 8.—One green policeman was killed and another seriously wounded at Oberhausen in a clash with French soldiers today. A German was seriously wounded by rifle fire in the railway yards at Essen.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
DUSSELDORF, March 8.—The ninth week of the French occupation of the Ruhr opened today. If the French could get coal, the venture so far has failed miserably, for in eight weeks they have not obtained one-eighth of the amount they had been receiving from Germany for an equal period.

But the German resistance, ordered and financed by Berlin, and the measures for overcoming the resistance, have relegated the coal problem into the background, at least temporarily. The French have extended and consolidated their positions throughout the area. Their customs service is everywhere on the edge of the occupied territory, and while there is little chance for the personnel to scrutinize everything, there is not much opportunity to evade inspections.

French railway experts are replacing the German organization with their own men. It is slow work, but the French operated 146 trains yesterday over a total of 20,000 miles. Rail movements are increasing daily. Eventually all rights of way will be in French possession.

French Occupy Hamm.

BERLIN, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The newspaper Germania reports that the French have occupied the railway station at Hamm, an important junction of the main railroad line between Essen and Berlin. A dispatch from Mannheim reports that the French have occupied Rheinau harbor, on the Rhine, in lower Alsace, and are marching on Rheinau, a suburb of Mannheim. It is also reported that the French have occupied the railway station of Dornap, near Elberfeld.

Essen and Duisburg have been isolated from rail communication with the rest of the Ruhr, according to the Berliner Tageblatt.

More Arrests in Munich.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BERLIN, March 8.—Two more arrests were made by the Munich police today as further evidence discloses details of the monarchist plot to set up a puppet government in Bavaria. The arrested were Prof. Ruge of Heidelberg, well known as an organizer of guerrilla bands in Upper Silesia, and former Capt. Meyer, a member of the Bavarian government secret service.

Poincare Answers Germans.
PARIS, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Premier Poincare, replying tonight to a memorandum distributed to the diplomatic corps by Germany on Feb. 15, issued a statement in which he says it is absurd for the Germans to pretend that the allies could only demand additional cash as a penalty for the nondelivery of lumber and coal, since Germany was declaring to the reparations commission that it could pay no cash at all.

As to the German contention that the allies were not warranted in occupying the Ruhr, he said:

RUHR CRATER

1—The ring of towns about Essen in the Ruhr is reported to be rapidly assuming the character of a political volcano. France is pursuing a policy of reprisal in Bochum and has reoccupied Essen and the nearby towns. As France shows no disposition to quit advancing into Germany, the extremists are quick to point out that France means to gobble the whole country.

pying more German territory, M. Poincare recalls that the protocol of Spa, in which is recorded the agreement with the Germans regarding coal deliveries, contained a statement saying that if the quantities provided for were not delivered within the dates mentioned the allies could occupy a new part of German territory.

London Protest Action.

LONDON, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—It is understood that the British have protested the French occupation of territory between the Rhine bridgeheads, in the interests of the customs union, to the French government. It is also reported here that the Dutch government has protested to France against the action, which has resulted in serious interference to Rhine traffic.

NEGRO PROTESTS
TAKING BLACKS
OUT OF THE RUHR

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
PARIS, March 8.—Premier Poincare tonight replied to Deputy Gratien Candace, from Guadeloupe, who protested against France's withdrawal of 200 Negro troops from the Ruhr.

The premier's statement says the withdrawal of the Negroes was not actuated by any scorn for the colonials, but simply to rob German propaganda of an invidious weapon. He said the government would not answer questions on this or any other problem from the tribune, thus forestalling the Creole deputy's interpellation.

Yaselli "BULLS"
COMPEL U. S. TO DROP RUM CASES

Motions to dismiss charges against sixty-five indicted owners of Chicago gardens, cafes and saloons, including some of the city's leading night life impresarios, were filed yesterday in the United States District court here by Assistant District Attorney Joseph J. Merensky, acting on orders from United States Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

All of the cases were based upon evidence gathered by "Count" William D. Yaselli, former prohibition "ace," whose operations last summer caused consternation in Chicago and throughout the "road-house zone."

Seeks to Head Off "Fixers."

Mr. Merensky will go before Judge Wilkerson this morning and ask that immediate action be taken on the motions to dismiss in order to forestall unscrupulous attorneys who might go to unformed defendants and solicit fees for "fixing" the cases.

Among the better known defendants who will escape prosecution because of the government's action are:

Midnite Frolics, Inc. Bloom, proprietor.

Bella Napoli cafe, "Diamond Joe" Esposito, proprietor.

Terrace Gardens, Harry C. Moir, proprietor.

House that Jack Built, Albert Bouche, proprietor.

Friars' Inn, Mike Fritzel, proprietor.

Green Mill Gardens, Tom Chamales, proprietor.

The Delis, Pearl Rein, proprietor.

Yaselli Upsets Cases.

Cases against Henry Horn, former manager of the Green Mill Gardens, and the management of the Chateau Desplaines, at Lyons, also are among defendants expected to be dismissed.

Action was taken, it was said, because Yaselli's "indiscretions" after he returned here six weeks ago to begin prosecution of the cases. It was said by government officials that there was no question of guilt in many of the cases, but that Yaselli's conduct had been such that the department of justice felt the embarrassment.

HER TEMPERATURE IS STILL 114 DEGREES, BUT SHE'S IMPROVED

Escanaba, Mich., March 8.—With the start of the nineteenth day of her temperature of 114 degrees or better, Miss Evelyn Lyons, 39, chatted freely with her friends at her home here. The young woman, who has astounded the medical profession by her excessive fever, today seemed to be resting better, her pulse beat more normally, and her face still retained its clear look. Thermometers showed no decrease in its reading, however, according to Dr. Harry Defnet's report.

could not be surmounted before federal juries.

The climax of Yaselli's so-called indiscretions is said to have been reached when he permitted himself to be entrapped by Miss Betty Johnson, a girl detective, who caused his arrest at a north side restaurant on charges of violating the state prohibition law. Detectives who interrupted the "party" of Miss Johnson and the "count" found a pint of booze under their table. The latter asserted the flask had been "planted" there, but his assertions failed to carry weight at Washington, and he subsequently was dismissed by Washington officials who had been his enthusiastic sponsors in a decade of service as a narcotic agent.

Equity Suits to Stand.

According to Mr. Merensky, all of his motions are based on criminal charges against the defendants and do not affect the series of equity suits brought against all the defendants with a view of closing up property valued at several millions of dollars. It is said, however, the government branch in charge of the injunction proceedings probably will follow Mr. Merensky's lead, inasmuch as Yaselli was to have been the principal witness in those cases also.

Only one of the "count's" criminal cases was brought to trial, that against Henry Horn, former manager of the Green Mill Gardens. He was acquitted.

"But I couldn't watch her ALL the time." And Mrs. Martha Wesolek, Tillie Klimek's "boska" (Polish for landlady), looked apologetic as she confessed her inability to keep absolute track of every movement of her former tenant at 124 North Winchester avenue.

Mrs. Klimek, on trial in Judge Marcus Kavanagh's court, charged with the murder by arsenical poisoning of her third husband, Frank Kupczyk, smiled a challenging, thoroughly feminine smile at her landlady accuser. She was thinking, perhaps, that the admission, "I couldn't watch her all the time," was more revealing than it was meant to be.

Victim of Back Fence Plot? For Tillie maintains she is the victim of a back fence, doorstep, "kaffe-katch" plot. She insists that neighborhood gossip, recollections in revenge has tried to make of a "good housekeeper," with a queer but innocent angle to her funny bone, a calculating murderess.

All through the day Tillie had listened to a procession of overzealous woman neighbors repeating the same three or four incidents, which, the state maintains, are more than the calm, heartless, ill timed humor of a woman who jested with a husband who laughed understandingly. The state sees these episodes as definite steps in a sequence that led to the murder of the husband.

Mrs. Klimek sat alone yesterday. The state early in the day nolleprossed the charge against Mrs. Nellie Koulik, but will try her later for the alleged murder of her first husband, Wojciek Sturmer.

She Develops Poise. Alert, and developing poise with every hour of her public appearance, Mrs. Klimek was at her best when facing the women who took the stand against her.

Mrs. Wesolek, owner and basement resident of the Winchester avenue building on the third floor of which Tillie and "her man" lived, had a good time recalling the incidents.

"Sure, I remember," she began. "Mrs. Kupczyk came out in the yard with a piece of newspaper all about a fine coffin for $30 that she was going to get for Frank."

What She Told Her. "I told her," continued the witness, as she looked down at Tillie and told her all over again, "I chase you and the coffin out."

Mrs. Wesolek, beguiled away from her own housekeeping duties to visit Tillie, whose man "lay sick in the kitchen bedroom, related how the wife draped a mourning veil about a black hat.

"Where was Tillie sitting while she did that?" questioned Assistant State's Attorney William F. McLaughlin.

"About ten feet away from Frank's bed. She laughed and said she was going to wear it to the funeral."

"Have you ever seen the hat since?" Slowly the witness turned her eyes on the woman in black a few feet from her.

"Why, sure. That there is the hat." The jurors looked solemnly at the silky black sailor, minus a veil, which had outlived its period of mourning and appeared none the worse for wear.

Mrs. Wesolek recounted how the tenant had played, "o, so tolly molly" on the Victrola, while her husband lay dead in it's same room.

Before leaving the stand, the woman, told of a scene in the Kupczyk kitchen when she had been called in by Tillie to discuss the serious illness of "the mister."

Her Symbolic Phrasing. "My man, he's got only two inches to live. But you, boska, you got eight inches to live," was Tillie's symbolic phrasing.

With less drama, but equal pleasure, Mrs. Wesolek's three daughters, Mrs. Florence Biering, Mrs. Emma Struckmeyer, and Mrs. Amanda Hoch, rang a few changes on the hat, Victrola, and coffin incidents.

Stella Granikowski, fellow worker with Tillie in a tailor shop, testified that at the time of Kupczyk's death Tillie had grabbed the corpse by the ear and shouted, "You devil, you won't get up any more."

Testimony of two life insurance agents showed that the alleged murderess collected approximately $675 on the death of her third husband.

Today the state will take up the technical proof of death by arsenical poisoning, according to Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Feder, assisting in the prosecution.

Attorney John Prystalski, defending Mrs. Klimek yesterday, said he will put Tillie on the stand in her own defense.

HIGH WISCONSIN TAXES HIT FARM AND LABOR BLOC

Cities Protest Putting the Burden on Them.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Madison, Wis., March 8.—(Special.)—Taxes are proving a disruptive force in the "Farmer and Labor" entente in Wisconsin's legislature. As elsewhere the taxpayers in this state have been making the welkin ring with shrieks against higher taxes.

The farmers being equipped with the greatest lung power, have raised the loudest shout, with the result that a large group of legislators is strongly advocating the idea of rectifying rates so as to ease up taxes on farm property and unload the difference somewhere else.

But Mayor Dan Hoan of Milwaukee, Socialist, has hopped up with a yell that unless the legislature takes another think it will help the rural taxpayers at the expense of the cities.

Thus one crimp seems to be put in the "Farmer-Labor alliance," upholding the political prophets who long have been saying a Farmer-Labor movement in politics will not travel far because of a pocketbook complex, the interests of the two groups not running in the same groove.

Mayor Hoan's Protest. A letter reached the legislature today from Mayor Hoan in which he declared that the constitutional provision for uniformity of taxes would fall into the coal hole if the proposal went through to shift to the cities the entire cost of the state government.

The state was given the picture of the Socialist mayor of Milwaukee rebuking the radical legislature for too radical a departure. Mr. Hoan cited the constitution and told them they had taken oath to levy a state tax to meet state needs.

To add to the conflagration over taxes the citizens' bureau of governmental research at Milwaukee has made an analysis of taxation which tends to upset the claim made in many quarters, especially by some of the "farm bloc" that the farmer is harder hit by taxes than is the urbanite. Wisconsin being a typical farming and dairying state of the diversified agriculture type, the figures are of far more than local interest.

What Statisticians Say. The statisticians figured out in each county the tax rate for all incorporated cities and villages. This embraced all property taxes paid by the city dweller for state, county, and local purposes. The property tax rate on rural property for the same purposes was also computed.

The analysis shows that throughout the state the average urban tax rate for all city property is 73 per cent higher than the tax on rural property. In eighteen counties the urban tax rate was between 100 and 150 per cent higher than the rural rate. In two counties the ratio ran even higher. Of these twenty counties, eleven are predominantly rural in population. Most of them are in the southern part of the state.

The assembly by a vote of 82 to 11 adopted the Huber resolution which passed the senate yesterday condemning the university faculty members who signed the round robin during the war denouncing the utterances of Senator La Follette.

SPEED MARKS ACTION ON CASES IN NIGHT COURTS

Peter Poppas, owner of a restaurant at 117 North Dearborn street, was arrested at 8:45 o'clock last night on charges of assaulting Mrs. Margaret Powandowski, a janitress in a building. Twenty-five minutes later Poppas was taken before Judge Arnold Heap in the Night court and fined $100 and costs. Poppas paid the fine and returned to his restaurant.

Martin Svetik, 1520 West 19th street, was given a similar fine by Judge Heap on charges of entering the flat of Anna Novonovski at the same address without her permission.

NULLIFYING THE STATE CONSTITUTION.

The Illinois house of representatives voted Wednesday for the nullification of the state constitution. The representatives voted to violate their oaths of office and to prove that they perjured themselves when they swore to uphold the constitution.

They voted down a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to present a plan of redistricting the state as the constitution provides it shall be redistricted.

This issue was so presented to the legislature that it had to be met directly. It was not a question how the state should be redistricted. The question was, Shall it be redistricted? Shall the constitution be obeyed? Shall there be even an attempt to obey? Shall a commission be appointed to present a plan of redistricting?

The answer was equally direct. A majority voted for nullification. The provision nullified is the corner stone of representative government. It concerns the political rights of citizenship and equality in lawmaking. It is the guaranty of majority rule. It is one of the principal foundations of the liberty of a free people.

By nullification the downstate members of the legislature declare their contempt for the constitution and for the political rights of citizenship in this metropolitan district. The constitution provides that the legislature shall redistrict the state after every federal census, using the census returns as a basis for ascertaining the equitable basis of representation. There was no redistricting after the 1910 census. There was none after the 1920. Chicago has the representation to which it was entitled under the census of 1900, although a new generation of voters has been born and come to voting age since then.

If the constitution were not nullified Cook county, upon the last census returns, would be entitled to five more state senators and fifteen more representatives.

Henceforth the nullification has been passive. The constitution imposes a mandate which cannot be enforced unless it is enforced by the conscience of the legislators, by their regard for law and their consideration for fundamental political rights. There is no other force to compel respect and obedience.

This time the Chicago members of the assembly were able to force the legislature out of a passive state of noncompliance into active repudiation and nullification of the constitution. The resolution did not present a plan which might have been rejected for demerits or for injustice in defining districts. If the legislature had permitted the presentation of a plan a shadow of plausibility might have been given to the objectors. They might have said that they were not opposed to equality in political rights, but objected specifically to the way in which the state was cut up into new districts.

The spirit of nullification in Illinois is too bold to care for subtleties. It declares its intent not to try to obey the constitution. It declares the provision void and of no effect.

We are quite certain that there will be no public protest in the downstate districts whose representatives voted for nullification. The people, we imagine, will be content that their legislators voted to nullify and to deprive the people of Cook county of political rights.

The Chicago effort to obtain political equality at least has made an open record. When disrespect for law is mentioned in this state we at least know where it begins. It begins in the Illinois legislature.

It involves disrespect for the highest law of the state. It involves disrespect for the fundamental political rights. It is set forth in a vote nullifying the constitution.

Chicago will keep up the fight. It does not consent to the loss of rights.

HIGH TIME FOR "EXPERTS" TO PAY INCOME TAX.

In the present period, while some millions of persons are struggling with their income tax blanks, it appears timely to ask of Commissioner Blair of the internal revenue department what is to be done about income taxes on $2,742,000 received from the city treasury by real estate and building experts for the year 1920. While the ordinary income tax payer is strapping up money for taxes for the third time since this $2,742,000 was received, the experts who received the millions are still exempt. The common taxpayer has paid for 1919 and 1921, and is now preparing to pay for 1922, while the experts have not yet paid for 1920. How do they do it? Some light may be thrown on that question by repetition of the statement that included in their counsel are Messrs. Williams and Myers, who were respectively commissioner of internal revenue and assistant commissioner when the experts were doing the work which brought them the $2,742,000.

Four rulings have been made on their case by the department. It has been decided that they should pay; that they should not; that they should; that they should not. They would like to have it stand that way. But Chicago taxpayers who have seen their money flow into the pockets of these experts think otherwise.

They have escaped through technicalities discriminating between whether they were city employees or were private individuals doing work for the city as a contractor would do it. There is ample evidence to prove that they were of the latter class. Justice to all taxpayers and to the government requires a ruling that they shall pay. This Tribune does not purpose to see the issue dropped. There is no more important matter before the department of internal revenue. It is a matter of thousands, perhaps millions, for the government. It is a matter of principle. It cannot be sidetracked and forgotten. Commissioner Blair should call for the taxes without further delay. Three years have been long enough for them to escape while a $3,000 a year man with a wife and baby has been paying regularly each year.

SMALL'S GOOD ROAD SMOKE SCREEN.

Seeking from the county commissioners approval of his $100,000,000 road bond issue proposition, which would tie up the Illinois roads program for many years and many administrations to come, Gov. Small indulges in his customary political claptrap.

"This CHICAGO TRIBUNE and some other publications," he says, "have persistently misrepresented the suggestions contained in my message and have apparently tried to create the impression that this bond issue was to be paid for by direct taxation."

We have not been aware of any such attempt. Our opposition to the $100,000,000 bond proposal has been based on the clear fact that it is not needed; that it would give the Small administration a tremendous political club for the coercion of voters, such as he has already demonstrated his willingness and ability to use under the present road bond authorization of $60,000,000; and that it would tie up the road funds for many years to come at unwarranted expense.

But since Gov. Small offers the issue of taxation, we will take it up. Read the following statement from the transportation committee of the Illinois Bankers' association, which certainly knows a great deal about finance and taxes as well as about roads:

"The present bond issue act provides that the principal and interest shall be paid from motor license fees, but if these fees are not sufficient a general tax on all property shall be levied to redeem them. The law governing the issue of the proposed $100,000,000 bond must contain the same provision. The biennial message estimates the collections from motor fees during the next twenty-five years at $300,000,000, or an average of $12,000,000 a year. This message also intimates that this will be sufficient to pay the present bond issue, the charges to be taken care of by this fund and the principal and interest of a $100,000,000 bond issue in addition, which with interest means at least $150,000,000."

"What are these items to be paid from this fund? First, the $60,000,000 bonds and interest of $24,000,000, total $84,000,000; or an average of $4,200,000 a year. Second, maintenance which, with the completion of the present system of 4,800 miles, and such state aid roads as the state must maintain, will cost at least $2,000,000 annually over the next ten to twenty years. Third, administration and engineering costs of not less than $1,500,000 annually. This would leave only $3,300,000 to take care of $150,000,000 in bonds and interest, which would average at least $7,500,000 annually, a shortage of over $2,000,000 a year. This would have to be provided by general taxation, or through some other method."

And these figures are based upon an estimate of motor fee receipts averaging $12,000,000 a year. The governor's own letter to the commissioners reported last year's motor fee license receipts at $7,849,693.

INVESTING IN CITIZENSHIP.

Forty Boy Scouts of the south shore district have undertaken the task of straightening street signs in their neighborhood. Barrett Wendell, in charge of the Chicago campaign to raise $115,000 for the Scout organization, says that illustrates the civic pride of the Scouts. We believe it is an example of good press advertising.

It is so good that we are glad to give it even more space than has been given. Whether such work of the Scouts indicates their civic pride or not, it certainly indicates their willingness to do something of value both for the community and for themselves and their organization. Those boys are better off, and the city is better off, when they are straightening street signs than if they were plotting mischief and forming bad habits on street corners. The development of their civic pride is a by-product.

At present there are only 12,000 boys adequately provided with scoutmasters in Chicago. There are 150,000 boys eligible. They could be interested in the clean, healthful activities of the Scouts if there was money to provide for their direction. One hundred and fifteen thousand dollars is needed. It is an investment in future good citizenship which good citizens should be glad to make.

Editorial of the Day

RECKLESSNESS OR WHAT!
[Free translation from Dniestnik Zwiaskowy (The Polish Alliance Daily).]

Public opinion is very properly beginning to question whether congress is able to profit from past experience. The sum of $25,000,000 has been transferred by our legislators from the war budget and diverted to the improving of local harbors in small towns—that is to say, for pork barrel purposes; or, to use still plainer language, for a chance to graft. Our standing army has now been reduced to a mere 125,000, the smallest we have ever had when it is measured in proportion to the population of the country. At the same time the militia of the various states is in the poorest condition.

And in the face of all these annoying circumstances the news now comes that congress wants to cut off the amount of $5,000,000 which had been apportioned for summer camps where civilians were to receive military training. But the fact is, if we agree to the assertion that this country can get along without a large standing army, then in compensation of such concession we must agree at least that the defense of the country should be firmly based on proper organization of the citizens and on general patriotism. The citizens have a right to demand that they be given sufficient opportunity to train in the use of arms, so that in the hour of need there are available the forces required to stand up for the country and to exact for every life of an American the life of at least one enemy.

Wilson while still President was emphatic in saying that the defense of this country rests on the foundation of "citizens trained in and accustomed to the use of arms." But how can citizens become initiated in these matters when they confine themselves to sitting at home and reading about the fights which their representatives in congress are waging with their tongues? Our experience in 1917 has been such that no more arguments should be needed as to the importance of making preparations in time, instead of deferring them until the moment of danger has arrived. This step of congress shows a deplorable lack of foresight.

RESURGO.

To Deirdre.

And why must you forget that day
When all the world was decked with May?
Why must you soon forget the Spring,
The song you made your soul to sing?
Why cannot you replace that hour
As Nature recreates a flower?
Another Spring will be here soon,
Another May, another tune.
The flute of love can pipe an air
To stir your soul, and make you care.
Their song of joy the birds still bring,
And to the winds their message fling.
The soft, caressing, fragrant breeze
The tinted cheeks of flowers tease.
The whole world lives anew each year.
Why should you heed a vagrant tear?
Need you for ancient memories tear
Gloom's cloak to shroud your form so fair?
Come, turn your lovely soul ahead
And let the sad-sweet past lie dead.
Forget! And lift your voice with me,
We'll find your song in Arcady. J. K. M.

HEATING ROOM PROPERLY.

FOR several days the weather had been bitterly cold. During a part of the time the thermometer had registered zero or below. The wind had been blowing and the ground covered with snow and ice. One high—I was inside the auditorium of the Cornell school. The air in this room seemed a little too warm. Aside from the heat, it had a peculiar "feel." The sensation experienced was somewhat like that which comes from going into a greenhouse. However, the air was not as moist as that of a greenhouse. There were thermometers exposed on the walls of the auditorium. They were placed about five feet from the floor, one on the north wall, the other on the south wall. The thermometers registered 64. My guess, before seeing the thermometers, was that the temperature was 74. People who sat in the gallery of the hall judged the temperature to be higher than 74.

I noticed that the windows were frost-free. This was noticeable before the crowd had been long enough in the room to fill the air with moisture from expired air.

I sought out the school engineer and asked his explanation of the feeling of heat with a temperature of 64 on a cold, windy night. On such a night an audience, sitting quietly in a hall in which the thermometer registers 64, complain of the cold sometimes to the point of mutiny. He took me to the boiler room and showed me how it was done. This is the trick: The air is taken from the roof of the building and drawn through conduits to the heating chamber in the basement. The air is well supplied with moisture from a one inch steam pipe. After this pipe enters the hot air chamber, it is perforated, the small openings for the escape of steam being scattered from one end of the chamber to the other. The circumference of the pipe-in-the-chamber, as heat is turned the air in this chamber, the valve is supplied and steam is let in in proper proportions. The fact that the air is well supplied with moisture made a room temperature of 64 appear a little warm. In fact, a temperature of 60 would have been more agreeable. Furthermore, the high moisture content of the air in the room made it more wholesome for the occupants and less destructive to the furniture.

The speakers, performer, and players did not complain of drowsiness. They got the point quickly, which means that the air was "easy on" the furniture. The engineer who had been seen earlier, I asked the engineer if he had ever seen any danger from explosion of the boilers due to the abstraction of steam. He said there had been none.

The engineers who have done his work better, made more people comfortable, and saved more coal, had been equipped with a hygrometer, and thus been able to measure the moisture of the air. Of setting the valve by rule of thumb.

STOPS PAYMENT ON CHECK.

Chicago, March 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I should like to know if a bank is responsible in a case like the following: I made out a check to a party, who notified me upon receipt of it to cancel the check, which I did, in writing. About five or eight days later that party went into the hands of a receiver and the receiver put the check back to me. The bank cashed the check, and I am now being sued by the receiver. I am asking you to advise me if I am liable for this. I am a party to the check, and I am asking you to advise me if I am liable for this. I am asking you to advise me if I am liable for this. ## TWO KINDS OF COLD WATER.

Chicago, March 4.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a tenant deduct part of rent on account of having to heat water for cleaning purposes and also bath? D. D. H.

The lease calls for hot water. What relief can I get? I pay high rent and suffer this inconvenience and expense. C. C. D.

Yes, deduct the cost of the heat by your TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WHERE IS HOME?

Chicago, March 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man lives and works in Chicago for a year, but goes to his old home in the state for week-end visits. He is considered a resident of Chicago or his former home, and is he legally entitled to cast his vote in his old home, providing he is not registered in Chicago? What determines a man's residence? ## MEMORY TESTS

1. Give the names of three books written by Rudyard Kipling. "Soldiers Three," "Kim," and "Wee Willie Winkie."

2. What is Baku noted for? On what sea is it situated? It is noted for its production of oil. The Caspian sea.

3. Does a magnifying lens magnify or simply concentrate heat from the sun? If so, the more lenses it shines through, is the heat that much more intense? The bureau of standards says that a magnifying glass concentrates heat from the sun. Shining through more than one lens would mean a loss of considerable heat in going through the different glasses.

4. Give five synonyms for the word barbarous. Cruel, strange, brutal, cruel, and atrocious.

5. When and where was the expression "The king is dead! Long live the king!" first used? In the French monarchical period, as far back as 1774.

REFLECTING IGNORANCE.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—Your seeming ignorance is refreshing. You know that the Standard Oil company control the price of a natural resource of this country, one that should belong to all the people (and I am no Socialist either).

I remember away back in 1890, yes, and in 1894, gasoline and kerosene were selling for even 4, 5, and 6 cents per gallon retail, and the oil wells were few and far between then, and methods of refining were crude, compared to what they are now, and the by-products of crude oil then were very few.

We and you only have to read the papers to learn of the immense dividends paid by the S. O. company, and also the huge salaries paid to its officers. Only because the S. O. company have a strangle hold on this natural resource.

There are scores of wells that have been plugged in order to curtail and hold back production; yes, by the S. O. company. They are the most greedy octopus that we have in the country today.

They will cut prices in order to stifle competition and kill off the small operator, after which up goes the price in order to make up for a little loss.

I hope La Follette will be able to bring about the necessary legislation to kill off this blood sucker or octopus, and it is really a little of both. The people won't stand for such things to exist much longer.

Gasoline and kerosene should sell today around 4 or 5 cents per gallon, and even then this giant octopus would make huge dividends.

Indeed, after reading your entire editorial one can easily pick many silly statements that any one can refute and prove their entire fallacy.

GEORGE W. DAVIS.

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE WITH STANDARD OIL.

Chicago, March 7.—I read with a great deal of interest the editorial, "Shall Ruin Be the Penalty of Success," in connection with the report of the senate committee headed by Senator La Follette attacking the various Standard Oil companies.

I want to take this opportunity of relating my personal experience with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Having changed from a coal to an oil burning furnace, I was in the market for fuel oil, and after figuring with several oil companies I closed a contract with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, partly because their price was lower, their contract more liberal and advantageous to me in every way.

I secured cheaper oil, better oil, and first class service. The only object of this letter is because I believe that it is only fair that the facts should be known and I feel that such matters should be judged by actual figures and facts and not by eccentric or prejudiced politicians. ## JOHNSON COURT AS STEP" TO

Says Advocate U. S. C.

New York, March 6.—The Supreme Court's decision in the Johnson case, which was announced here today, is a "bafled" step toward the demand for Americanization of nations. Speaking before the Senate, the California senator, who is a member of the American League of Nations, said that the decision was a "bafled" step toward the demand for Americanization of nations. He said that the decision was a "bafled" step toward the demand for Americanization of nations. He said that the decision was a "bafled" step toward the demand for Americanization of nations.

A GOOD NOTE ON WHICH TO CLOSE THE CONTROVERSY.

Chicago, March 6.—In all this controversy about France and Germany, it makes me think what Benjamin Franklin said—namely:

"Few in public affairs act from a mere view of the good of their country, whatever they may pretend; and though their actions bring real good to their country, yet men primarily consider their own and their country's interest was united, and did not act on a principle of benevolence. Fewer still, in public affairs, act with a view to the good of mankind."

I have not seen a single letter in "Voice of the People" that was written from an unprejudiced viewpoint. The fact is, the human mind is the same, whether it is in a German, a Frenchman, an Englishman, or an American.

Howbeit, it seems to me that France is playing the role of Shylock and is demanding its pound of flesh. And in regard to France helping us during the revolution, France had just been beaten by England in a war through which she lost the Dominion of Canada, and French aid to America was

JOHNSON BRANDS COURT AS "FALSE STEP" TO LEAGUE

Says Advocates Appeal to U. S. Cupidity.

New York, March 8. — President Harding's proposal that the United States accept membership in the permanent court of international justice was assailed here tonight by Senator Johnson (Rep., Cal.), a leader of the Senate Irreconcilables, as a first "false step" toward membership in the league of nations.

Speaking before the Bronx board of trade, the California senator declared the demand for American participation in European affairs was based on no logical foundation, but emanated from "a befogged international intellectuality or a hysterically perverted imagination."

"Still the cry continues, the propaganda permits, for our entry into Europe," Senator Johnson said. "It takes now one form and then a totally different one, and has run the gamut of possible international organizations. Its advocates appeal in turn with equal fervor to our altruism and our cupidity."

Appeal to Sympathies.

"The demand that America join the league of nations is succeeded by the beautiful word picture of an economic conference and the great part the moral weight of the United States might play in a topey-turvey world. And now, again, our old leaguers, wary from defeats, in dulcet tones invite us to join the international court."

"An international court which substitutes the rule of law for that of power, and the domination of justice for armed might, has a sonorous and an appealing sound. To argue that just as courts determine issues between individuals, it is logical there should be a like mode of adjudication of differences between nations by similar courts, at once strikes a sympathetic chord."

"But what is not said and what is not understood is that the so-called international court is no court at all, as courts are commonly understood. It is little more than what exists with our arbitration treaties. It does not function like the ordinary courts with which we are familiar. It cannot hale before it recalcitrant countries, nor can it, of itself, assume jurisdiction of disputes between nations."

Nations Have Option.

"It is a mere arbitral tribunal to which nations may submit disputes if they see fit, and only those questions, which the parties themselves agree to submit can be heard at all. Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan have refused to submit to any compulsory jurisdiction, reserving to themselves to decide when and whether any controversy in which they are interested shall come before the international tribunal."

"Thus the much heralded court is denied in its inception by the great nations the right or the power to act upon any questions, which may be the breeders of war, without the consent of these nations themselves."

GUARD LEADER OF CULT HELD ON GIRL'S CHARGE

Murmured threats of violence caused the defense to demand that each spectator in Judge Joseph B. David's court be searched for weapons when Abbate Joseph Maria Di Carmelo, self-styled "reincarnated Christ" and "celestial messenger," went on trial on a charge of criminal attack yesterday.

REVENUE ACT TO BE REVISED BY NEXT CONGRESS

Plans Already Under Way to Simplify Law.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.
Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—Preparations already are under way for a revision of the revenue law at the next session of congress with a view to simplifying its cumbersome administrative provisions.

Although efforts may be made to bring about far reaching changes in revenue policy, this is not contemplated by administration leaders, who think this would be difficult of accomplishment. They believe, however, that administrative changes are necessary.

Representative Green (Rep., Ia.), who will be chairman of the new ways and means committee, has charge of the preliminary work and announced today that he would request officials of the treasury to form a committee to prepare recommendations for amendments to the administrative provisions.

To Put Matter up to Mellon.
Before leaving Washington next week Mr. Green will confer with Secretary of Treasury Mellon to place his suggestion before him. He believes a committee should be appointed at once composed of officials connected with the administration of tax laws and competent to prepare complete recommendations for simplifying procedure, and also for clarifying sections of the revenue law which have proved difficult to interpret and which have been the subject of litigation.

While a tax simplification board was created under the 1921 revenue act its work has consisted of recommending changes in regulations and tax forms of the internal revenue bureau rather than amendments to the law. It is Mr. Green's idea that such a committee should be ready to make comprehensive recommendations for simplifying the revenue law as may be possible.

Plans to Hold Hearings.
If such recommendations are ready he plans to arrange for hearings of the ways and means committee early in the session with a view to making a comprehensive revision of the revenue law as may be possible.

Whatever happens with respect to proposed changes of this nature it is expected the time would at least be favorable for simplifying tax procedure and for clearing up questions with respect to the interpretations of the present law which are in dispute.

Recommendations for a few amendments to the 1921 law to correct defects were presented to congress by the secretary of the Treasury Mellon at the recent session. One of these failed of passage last week and will be brought forward again at the next session.

This bill, which failed of enactment, limited deductions from net income on account of capital losses.

The chief amendment to the revenue law which was approved by congress was designed to prevent the evasion of taxes on capital gains involved in the exchange of securities.

BOOTLEG WAR IS FLARING UP OFF EASTERN COAST

New York, March 8.—[Special.]—Way out beyond Sandy Hook, where northeastern whistles through tightly drawn rigging while youthful giants stroll over ice covered decks to guard thousands of dollars worth of goods, a war is developing.

The independent operators on the bootleg line are making too much money. The combine has not yet served notice breaking off diplomatic relations, but such a move is in the air, and no one knows it better than the men who take fliers on liquor, with a view to quick cleanups and slight risks.

Among the fifteen or more ships now riding the line, perhaps seven are independently owned.

The other ships are carriers for the combine. They operate through the "big boss" ashore and the stuff they bring goes into the combine's small boats and is taken ashore quickly. In their case, every dollar of cargo has been ordered before it ever finds a place on the line.

Deputies Slain at Still.
Franklin, La., March 8.—[Special.]—John Murphy, confessed slayer of Robert Wesley Crain and Wiley Pierce, deputy sheriffs, last Saturday, taken today to the moonshine still which he operated in the heart of the Betsy creek swamps, told the authorities that the killing occurred at the still and not a quarter of a mile beyond, as he is said to have described in a previous confession.

Murphy said the mash was cooking and the liquor running from the worm of the still when the deputies appeared. He offered Crain a cup of the moonshine, he said, and the deputy after taking it, passed it to Pierce. As Pierce raised the cup to his lips, Murphy told the sheriff, he fired three shots, killing the deputy, and then turned and shot Crain.

Gideon Rester, who has confessed that he was with Murphy, ran from the scene, Murphy said, but returned and assisted in removing traces of the killing and in carrying and burying the bodies.

OBITUARY.
Mrs. Jonathan Slade Dies; In Chicago Since 1849

Mrs. Lucy Ann Slade, daughter of the late Nathan Mears, pioneer lumber merchant of Chicago, passed away yesterday. With her parents, she came to this city in 1849. She was closely identified with Unity church during the pastorate of Robert Collier.

Mrs. Slade is survived by her husband, Jonathan Slade; a daughter, Mrs. Morgan B. Blydenburgh of Smithtown, Long Island; two sons, J. Edward Slade of Hood River, Ore., and Arthur B. Slade of Chicago; and three grand children, Elizabeth, Janet, and Brantley Slade.

W. L. KIDD, a pioneer resident of Chicago, died on Wednesday at his home at 8317 South Elizabeth street, at the age of 89. Mr. Kidd came to Chicago in 1865 and two years later established himself in the bookbinding business at La Salle and Randolph streets. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

JAMES H. CHEESMAN, for several years associated with the Horlick company of Racine, Wis., died suddenly at Los Angeles, Cal., last Tuesday. Mr. Cheesman was for many years president of the Alfa association. He is survived by his widow and one son, F. Stuart B. Cheesman, of Chicago.

OBITUARY. NOTED BANKERS ATTEND BURIAL OF C. D. NORTON

New York, March 8.—[Special.]—The funeral of Charles Dyer Norton, financier and secretary to William Howard Taft when the latter was President, was held today at Grace church, the Rt. Rev. Charles Lewis Slattery, former rector of the church and now bishop coadjutor of Massachusetts, officiating. Mr. Norton died at his home Tuesday of double pneumonia.

Many wall street friends and associates of Mr. Norton, among whom were J. P. Morgan, Thomas W. Lamont, George F. Baker Sr., and George F. Baker Jr., attended the services. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and former Ambassador James W. Gerard were also present.

Chief Justice Taft was not able to attend, but sent a message of sympathy and a floral piece of red roses. The body was taken on a special train to Orange, N. J., immediately after the services and interment was in the family cemetery there.

BROTHER ARCADIOUS JOSEPH [John J. Guider in the world], member of the Order of Christian Brothers for fifty-seven years, and for the last seven years attached to St. Patrick's Commercial academy, died last evening.

He was born in New York Jan. 1, 1852. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning with solemn requiem high mass at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock and burial in Calvary cemetery.

NAMES RECEIVER FOR $20,000,000 CHAIN STORES CO.

Move to Avert Crash of L. R. Steel Concern.

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter yesterday appointed the Central Trust company receiver for the L. R. Steel company, a $20,000,000 chain store organization with $2,500,000 property holdings in Chicago.

Appointment of the receiver followed filing of two petitions in federal court, one by Albert Pick & Co., who listed claims of $24,000 and asserted knowledge of further indebtedness totaling $900,000, and the other by Vent & Wardfield, attorneys, representing other creditors.

Two Suits Filed in East. Simultaneously with the procedure here, similar action was taken in Buffalo and Pittsburgh to protect eastern interests involved in the affairs of the Steel enterprises.

The principal companies named in the various proceedings are L. R. Steel company, Inc., the parent corporation; L. R. Steel company, Ltd., the Canadian chain; the Federal Stores company, the F. E. Nelson Stores company, the Mary Lincoln Candy company, Inc., the Steel department store holding corporation, and the Steel's Department Stores, Inc., of Illinois, Colorado, Utah, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, Washington, Maryland, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Ohio, Maine, Alabama, Idaho, Florida, and Arkansas.

Until last October the company owned sixty stores and owned or controlled a number of restaurants and cafeterias. Since that time, it is said, ten of the stores have been discontinued.

The Steel enterprises were organized in 1919 by Leonard R. Steel, and in connection with the extension of the merchandising organization, stock selling offices were established in Chicago and other large cities. It is said that from $30,000,000 to $22,000,000 in common and preferred stock was subscribed in the company.

Steel Gives Up Control. Steel continued at the head of the enterprises until January, when he retired, giving broken health as the reason. Since that time management has been vested in a board of control.

According to officials of the parent company, the receivership actions are friendly ones, brought with a desire to prevent a crash of the entire organization through the unfriendly attitude of certain stockholders and creditors.

Corporations named in the petition filed by Albert Pick & Co. are the L. R. Steel company, the Steel Realty and Development company, Steel's Department Stores, and the Federal Stores.

The petition states that the parent company owns property at 6308 Ellis avenue valued at $400,000 and holds ninety-nine year leases on properties at 604 and Halsted streets and at 47th street and Ashland avenue, valued at $300,000. In connection with the petition, Taylor, Miller, Dickinson & Smith, attorneys, representing the company, filed an entry of appearance and consent to the receivership.

In the Vent & Wardfield petition the lawyers make specific reference to the stores in the Chicago vicinity, naming establishments in Chicago, Rock Island, Moline, Quincy, Danville, Kendallville, Ind., Milwaukee, Oshkosh, and Appleton, Wis.

Assets Listed at $13,970,334. It is stated that in a recent report of the company the following assets were shown:

Merchandise, $5,119,542; accounts receivable, $123,274; cash on hand and in banks, $890,199; other assets, $7,787,417; total, $13,970,334.

Liabilities were listed at $2,217,866. The foregoing differs slightly with the total assets of the company as given by the consolidated balance sheet of the L. R. Steel company, Inc., for February. This record itemizes the assets as follows: Total assets, $13,401,671; surplus, $1,196,711; cash on hand and in banks, $394,000; merchandise inventories, $2,122,000; investment in subsidiary companies, $2,329,849; organizing, financing and advertising, $3,229,000; leaseholds, good will, trade marks, etc., $17,076,500.

Declared Company Solvent. According to the Vent & Wardfield petition, the company is considered solvent, but a receivership is asked for because of the fear that if operation of the enterprises were not taken over under direction of the federal courts, a multiplicity of court actions and attachments would be liable to result. It is pointed out that a company of such magnitude should be governed by an executive board and that a variety of proceedings should not be tolerated.

In a statement given out by Chairman Wilkins of the board of control of the Steel enterprises, it was said that persistent circulation of rumors as to the financial condition of the Steel corporations and an ill-advised receivership action in Maryland against one of the companies had caused the pressing of merchandising claims, resulting in an unsettling of credit.

MAN LOSES $9,000 IN PURSE. I. C. Summer, 86 West Schiller street, reported to the police yesterday that he had lost a purse, containing a negotiable note for $9,000, on North Clark street between Washington street and North avenue.

POWERS SPEED TURK PLAN FOR ANOTHER PARLEY

Balk if Angora Rejects Basic Ideas.

PARIS, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The time and place for the proposed new conference to conclude the work of making peace in the near east, left unfinished at Lausanne, have not yet been fixed, but the French government, it is stated, will do everything possible to facilitate the holding of such a conference, provided there is no attempt to undertake a change in the basic ideas of the treaty framed at Lausanne.

Meanwhile, it is pointed out, recognition must be given the fact that Ismet Pasha and the other members of the Turkish government have achieved a difficult task in obtaining from the Angora parliament a vote of confidence and the practical approval of the clauses in the Lausanne treaty draft.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 8.—Eighty per cent of the treaty presented at Lausanne and rejected at Angora was acceptable to Ismet, but the economic and financial clauses, giving the allies control of the Anatolian railroads and also concessions obtained from the deposed Constantinople government, were protested. Had the allies consented to give in on these clauses, which, according to American experts, encroached on the Turkish sovereignty, there would be peace in the near east now.

On the other hand, it is significant that Ismet, who was pledged the support of the entire assembly, if he brought back a signed treaty, while officially endorsed, was indirectly repudiated for having given in on the questions which the assembly is now settling.

Turks Ready to Fight. The Tribune correspondent returned today from Angora, via Mudania. There is no question in the correspondent's mind that Turkey is prepared to fight. Mustafa Kemal Pasha, Rauf Bey, and Ismet Pasha all represent the minimum concessions. No one desires peace more than these three, but they were not bluffing when they rejected the economic and financial clauses.

Military preparations are going on, recruits are being drilled, and strategic places, Ismet especially, are being fortified. A Turkish captain told the Tribune that when the British fleet rushed in Smyrna harbor against the ultimatum of the Turks Turkish cannon were trained on each unit, and it would not have been difficult to have sunk the entire squadron.

LONDON, March 8.—[Tribune Foreign News Service.]—The Russell baby, whose parentage is disputed in the Russell divorce suit, is to be produced in court tomorrow for inspection by the jury.

Public interest was undiminished today when the star witness, the co-respondent, Edgar Jacques, Mayer, told his story of his friendship with Mrs. Russell. The evidence was a series of flat denials of the stories of scenes in his rooms. He said the tales were concocted for the benefit of detectives.

Mr. Mayer denied the counsel's suggestion that he had "picked up" Mrs. Russell on the Paris train. He had assisted her through the customs at Boulogne and had bought two Pullman tickets, later driving her home in London. He denied kissing Mrs. Russell, or trying to do so.

Dr. Stanley Dodd testified that he had examined Mrs. Russell in August, 1921, whereas he confidently stated his opinion that complete marital relations never had taken place. There was no improbability, however, of a child resulting from such relations.

Just before adjourning the court the judge agreed to the application of Mrs. Russell's counsel that the baby be produced tomorrow.

Tobey Furniture - Curtains - Rugs Interior Decoration The Pilgrim Suite

Priced Specially for the Semi-Annual Sale

THE Pilgrim Suite is composed of reproductions of antique pieces, found in different towns on Cape Cod and assembled for a bedroom by a famous collector.

All of the original pieces were built of maple, some having been painted, some stained mahogany color, and others merely varnished. The most beautiful were those which had been finished in the natural color and had acquired through age the deep yellow of old maple, and all the pieces were refinished to match this mellow shade.

The bed panels and drawer fronts have a delightfully curly figure and a further decorative touch is added by the quaint hand painting in rose, black and amber, in the fashion of a century and a half ago.

This set consists of twin beds, candle stand, highboy, dressing table and mirror, bench dresser with hanging mirror, arm chair, ottoman, and side chair. Price $1549.

The Semi-Annual Sale affords opportunity to save from 25% to 50% on beautiful furniture of the regular Tobey standard. Now is the economical time to buy good furniture.

BROOKHART NOT TAMED, HE SAYS, BY SENATE TERM

More Determined than Ever to Carry On.

course to my constituents all through the campaign.

"My further association through the entire session has been pleasant in a personal way with almost every senator in the chamber. They have treated me with consideration far beyond my expectations, and I have learned to respect even those from whom I differed most.

"However, as for being 'tamed' by this experience, I want to say that I think it will be necessary for the farmers, the laborers, the soldiers, and the mothers of the country to send to both houses of congress majorities who think and see things from the standpoint of these great common people and are willing to fight to a finish before they will ever secure their just rights against the economic forces so firmly entrenched in our legislative body.

"I am ready to sound a call to the ballot box for these common people in every state in the Union.

Proclaims World Unrest.
"The present view of everybody is that great unrest exists everywhere. This is constantly stated and proclaimed by every class and condition in the United States, and it is also pointed out that a more unsettled condition exists among all other peoples of the world. It will be conceded that the economic and political conditions throughout the world not only produced the world war but produced this unsettled and revolutionary tendency since the war.

"It must therefore be written that the statesmanship of the past has brought us to the verge of destruction. The common people of the world look over this situation and they say statesmanship has failed. They survey the old remedies and pronounce them inadequate and of short duration. Through it all they view the great economic development and point to it as the hope of the future. This is economic cooperation.

"And what is this economic cooperation that has won the universal approval of the farmers and laboring people?"
"It is the same simple system of business that was invented by the twenty-eight poor flannel weavers of Rochdale.

Definition of Cooperation.

"They defined their cooperative enterprises as follows:

"1. In the cooperative enterprise each member has one vote. All producers and consumers are entitled to be members, and capital does not vote.
"2. The wages or earnings of capital are fixed, like the wages of men, and they do not exceed the usual legal interest rate.

"3. One-fourth of the net profits are held in the business for safety and growth, and the other three-fourths are distributed to the members in proportion to their volume of trade with the enterprise.

"As rules of business safety in operation, they advised and practiced the following:

"1. Goods shall be sold at the prevalent current market prices.
"2. All transactions shall be for cash.

"3. Societies federate with the neighboring societies or become established as branches.
"4. Every society shall teach cooperation.

"Will Capture the World."

"These simple principles of business have proved to be the 'biggest,' the soundest, the most enterprising, and the most successful business principles ever promulgated in this world. They have never made a millionaire, and they have never made a pauper. They are already transacting one-third of all the business in Great Britain, and at the present rate of growth there will be no other business in twenty years except the Rochdale Cooperative association."

"These principles have been transplanted by the farmers to Denmark and Czechoslovakia, where their success has been even more pronounced and far more rapid."

[The conclusion of this interview will be printed tomorrow.]

Pennay Roads Lift Embargo on East Bound Freight

Lifting of a general embargo laid on east-bound freight September 30, 1922, on the Pennsylvania railway system was announced by officials here last night. The order of yesterday affects all leading points west of Mansfield and Columbus, O. The east-bound freight ban over other territory had been raised some time. The Pennsylvania lines are thus now clear from the Atlantic to Chicago. Other roads clamped down a general embargo on east-bound freight in the fall of 1922.

JUDGE CAVERLY LAUNCHES WAR ON COURT "FIXERS"

Grafters who hang about the criminal courts and fleece relatives of persons on trial out of large sums of money through offering benefit of their purported "pull" in obtaining liberty were made the targets of a drive by Judge John E. Caverly in Criminal court yesterday.

His action was precipitated by the arrest of Sanford "Gimp" Rosenbaum, well known police character, on an indictment charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses from Mrs. Edward Olson, 2241 West 51st street.

About two weeks ago, according to Judge Caverly, Mrs. Olson appeared and inquired about the case of her brother, Albin Bergman, who had been sent to Pontiac on a charge of robbery.

"I have been wondering," Mrs. Olson told the judge, "what is the matter with the 'fixer' who was to help my brother get out of Pontiac. He was supposed to have gone to the bridgehead, and went to Pontiac instead."

Judge Caverly questioned the woman and learned that she had paid $120 to Rosenbaum, who had offered his "drag with Judge Caverly" to her in aiding her brother out of his difficulty.

"He wanted $120 for doing this. I scraped the money together and paid it to him. Then I found that he had thrown me down."

The judge ordered Rosenbaum to be taken to the county jail. He also instructed Chief of Detectives Hughes and Lieut. William Schoemaker of the detective bureau to obtain a vagabond warrant for Rosenbaum, and when they saw him on the street to lock him up. "When that warrant runs out get another and another. This town is going to be too hot for Rosenbaum from now on," he said.

Those sent to jail are: Lawrence Tannehill, 1700 North Crawford avenue.

Allen Tannehill, his brother, 1700 North Crawford avenue.

Lowell Tannehill, their cousin, 4119 Nelson street.

Porter Corman, Alexandria hotel.

Carl McCormick, colored, poolroom porter, 4008 West North avenue.

The fine was imposed upon Edwin Riser, 4113 North Leamington avenue, who was said to have been not so deeply involved as the others.

Orders Man Rearrested.

William Meehan, 3521 Fulton street, and Clarence Walkoe, 3644 Hirsch boulevard, arrested with the others, were found not guilty. They hurried from the courtroom. Hardly had they disappeared when McCormick declared Walkoe had collected the "copy" for the booklet, and Judge Burke ordered him rearrested.

Counsel for the defendants pleaded the affair was a joke—"just a prank, done as a pastime."

"If that is a pastime, it's the pastime of a pervert," declared Joseph Rubens, assistant state's attorney. "If the defendants think it is a joke, I would like to call in the fathers of some of the girls who were given copies of this perverted 'Smut' and let them impose the sentences. That would show how much of a joke it is."

Fails to See "Joke."

"You are not worth any sympathy from any court."

With that comment Judge Joseph Burke yesterday cut short pleas for leniency and sent five "Smut" peddlers to jail for sixty days each, fining a sixth $100 and costs. The men had been held responsible for circulating a filthy booklet, called "Smut," among the boys and girls of Austin High school.

"The trouble taken in collecting and printing this booklet and the fact it was sold at considerable pains and risk show well enough it was no joke," said Judge Burke. "It is the filthiest thing I ever saw in print. Persons who circulate such things among the boys and girls of the high schools are not worthy of any sympathy from any court."

When extracts were read from "Smut" during the prosecution, women were excluded by order of the court.

PLAN PUBLICITY DRIVE TO SAVE DRAINAGE CANAL

City's Health at Stake in Water Suits.

Suits now pending in the United States Supreme court by Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin against the state of Illinois, protesting against the volume of water used in the disposal of sewage through the drainage canal, are to be met by a campaign of education by publicity and lectures showing Chicago's dire need of the 10,000 cubic feet consumed per second.

The move was decided upon yesterday at the meeting of the board of trustees of the sanitary district after communication from the Milwaukee city council, urging the state department of the state of Wisconsin to press suits, had been read.

It was recommended that the finance committee place in the hands of the law and engineering departments $50,000 to be spent jointly in telling the public the facts of the case.

The state bringing the suit claim that the level of the Great Lakes is being affected by the Sanitary district's drainage canal. They contend that the lake levels are falling, due to the unprecedented consumption of water for Chicago's sewage disposal, and that navigation is being affected also thereby.

"The war department gauged our necessities in 1902," said trustee King yesterday, "and the suit intends to put us down to the figure established then."

To reduce our present amount would impair public health throughout the state, would increase the Chicago death rate and break havoc with a truly wonderful sewage disposal system which is largely responsible now for the state of our public health.

Means of remedying the lake level reduction in other ways than by shortening the drainage canal water flow will be suggested in the publicity matter issued by the board.

THREE STATES JOIN IN FIGHT. Madison, Wis., March 8.—The attorneys general of Michigan and Minnesota will join with the Wisconsin attorney general at the conference called for March 19 at Chicago to discuss unified action of these states against the state of Illinois for illegal diversion of Lake Michigan water through the Chicago drainage canal. Only Indiana has failed to reply to the invitation extended by Wisconsin. It is expected the states involved will join in the Wisconsin suit now before the United States Supreme court to restrain further diversion of lake water.

IRISH CAPTURE 2 REBEL CHIEFS; BATTLE IN KERRY

Other Republicans Taken, Too.

BELFAST, March 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Don Maloney, Republican deputy chief of staff, has been captured in Glen Aherlow. Maloney was the successor of Liam Deasy, whose peace proposals, made while he was a prisoner of the national army, were rejected by the Republican leaders last month.

Thomas Connolly, an officer commanding the First southern Republican division, is also in custody after being wounded, and two Republican leaders named O'Brien were taken in the Silver mines district of Tipperary.

In the course of operations by Free State forces around New Port, County Mayo, twenty-three armed Republicans under a leader named Baker were captured, one Republican was killed, and 2,000 rounds of ammunition were taken.

Heavy Fighting in Kerry. Reports from County Kerry indicated that the heaviest fighting since last summer is proceeding in the mountainous areas near Garraun and Cahersheen, where 400 irregulars were driven in by the nationalists. Receiving reinforcements the irregulars offered stiff resistance and by counter

RED PEPPER Colds in Chest

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through.

When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known.

THREE STATES JOIN IN FIGHT. Madison, Wis., March 8.—The attorneys general of Michigan and Minnesota will join with the Wisconsin attorney general at the conference called for March 19 at Chicago to discuss unified action of these states against the state of Illinois for illegal diversion of Lake Michigan water through the Chicago drainage canal. Only Indiana has failed to reply to the invitation extended by Wisconsin. It is expected the states involved will join in the Wisconsin suit now before the United States Supreme court to restrain further diversion of lake water.

operations forced the national troops to entrench themselves until relieved by an armored car.

The total casualties in Kerry since Monday, including fatalities through the explosion of trap mines, are given as eight national soldiers and twenty-one irregulars killed, with many on each side wounded.

The Ubiquitous Rebel. [Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] DUBLIN, March 8.—(Tribune Radio.)—An official telegram issued from Cork today describes the arrest of three irregulars under remarkable circumstances. A house was raided in the early hours this morning, and the troops, after a great delay, found one irregular under a maid's bed, a second was found under the bed in the bathroom and a third in another room in a bed between a husband and wife.

In a house in Moyness road, near Dublin, troops seized much war material and important documents.

PURSE SNATCHER JAILER. Sigurd Erickson, 6320 North Fullerton avenue, was sentenced to six months in the house of correction yesterday by Judge Burke on a charge of purse snatching.

Rail Prosperity Called Sign of Good Times in U.S.

Prosperity throughout the country is being reflected in the prosperity of the railroads, State Senator John Ford of New York said, in an address yesterday before the General Agents' Association of Chicago in Hotel Sherman. Senator Ford compared chaotic conditions in Europe with the "stability of industry and government in the United States."

HOUSE QUARREL OVER BRUNDAGE ENDS IN THE VOTE

Dead Corporations Burial Fund at Issue.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(Special.)—The house of representatives failed to go to a final vote on the bill over appropriations, a fight which started in a personal attack on Attorney General Brundage by Representative Arthur Roe (Dem., Fayette). Representative Roe attempted to amend the attorney general's $1,037,240 appropriations by striking out an item of $70,000 for dissolution of defunct corporations. With that as a starter the Fayette county Democrats turned his guns on the entire Brundage payroll and appeared to be terribly scandalized by his own statements until the fight he had overlooked some facts he had overlooked.

House Votes Tie and Adjourns.
The only roll call during the battle was on a motion by Representative Smekal (Rep., Chicago), chairman of the appropriations committee, to table the Roe amendment. That resulted in a tie of 51 to 51, with exactly one-third of the house absent. The house then adjourned for the week, leaving the attorney general's appropriation in the same position it occupied when the fight started.

The business of dissolving defunct corporations is performed by the attorney general for the benefit of the secretary of state. It was the general impression that Representative Roe offered his amendment as an excuse to rip into the Brundage payroll.

Representative Roe called attention to the fact that Hiram T. Gilbert of Chicago and Benson London, former law partner of Attorney General Brundage, among others, were on the attorney general's payroll in connection with the Illinois Central litigation.

Michael Igoe Replies.
With this, one of Mr. Roe's Democratic colleagues, Representative Michael Igoe (Chicago) stepped to the front. "The Illinois Central litigation has been going on for a long time," Mr. Igoe said. "It involves millions. Hiram T. Gilbert knows more about it than any other man in Illinois. He has been in charge of it under both Republican and Democratic attorneys general. He was retained because of his ability."

"Testimony in that case fills a monumental record. Mr. Gilbert is physically unable to do now what he did a few years ago, and when he was asked by Mr. Brundage to suggest an assistant he named Mr. London, who is capable in every degree and free from scandal. He has been compelled to give this case his exclusive time and attention. They are having hearings now which I understand consume four court days each week."

Five Democrats Join Mr. Igoe in voting with forty-five Republicans to table the Roe amendment. They were: Garcke (Madison), McCluggage (Peoria), Smith (Chicago), Weber (Chicago) and Williamson (Champaign). Representative Smekal declared there are more than 50,000 defunct corporations now on the books of the secretary of state and that separate proceedings are necessary for the dissolution of each.

BILL WOULD MAKE FATHER SUPPORT ILLEGITIMATES

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(Special.)—Illegitimate children would be supported according to the financial means of their fathers and to the same extent as legitimate children under the provisions of a bill sponsored by the uniform laws commission and introduced in the general assembly today by Representative Lyon (Rep., Chicago). The bill provides for judicial determination of the amount the father shall contribute in the same manner that courts now fix alimony in divorce cases. The order would always be subject to revision by the courts. The bill stops, however, with financial support to illegitimate children up to the age of 18 and does not establish such children as heirs or give them the father's name.

MERITS OF STATE POLICE RELATED TO LEGISLATORS

New York and Michigan Experiences Told

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(Special.)—The pending state police bill came up for further explanation today at a dinner given to members of the legislature by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. George P. Dutton, deputy superintendent of the New York state troopers, and Capt. C. J. Scavarda of the Michigan state police were the speakers.

Capt. Dutton related statements made at a legislative hearing two weeks ago by "Billy" Collins, New York labor organizer, who stated that during the Buffalo street car strike last year the state troopers rode down the streets like Cossacks, dragged a woman in childbirth from her bed, and cruelly beat innocent citizens.

"What Really Happened."
"We were in Buffalo ten days restoring order," said Capt. Dutton. "We had trouble with men piling rocks and boxes on the tracks. Our men chased one of these men into a drug store and man jumped on the trooper's back and tried to bite him. The trooper put him on the floor. Another man went to a hospital with a few scratches and went home unaided."

"A wagon load of hoodlums was interfering with people getting on cars and calling them vile names. Our men tried to chase them away and finally pulled one of the leaders from the wagon and one of the troopers had it out with him with fists and we sent them away. There was a gang of boys we dispersed. They were interfering with traffic. Troopers vaulted their horses over a fence after one boy. A woman saw it and she said it made her ill."

Charges Found Groundless.
"That is the extent of the trouble. The labor people took these things up and distorted them. The mayor of Buffalo investigated the charges and reported them unfounded."

Capt. Dutton said the state police in New York pays for itself. It is made up of ex-service men. Last year it took in $1,151,000.

Capt. Scavarda said there were 200 men on the Michigan force, which is a consolidation of the work of four old state departments that formerly cost $561,370. The police cost $350,000. The police inspect schools for safety, investigate suspicious firms, enforce the drug act and liquor laws, and patrol the roads for criminals.

They are making money for the state, according to Capt. Scavarda, as during the last six months they turned in $180,000. They cooperate with city and county officials and with the federal government. He stated that the labor men in the Michigan legislature were in favor of the police and had voted for it.

VICTIMS AID POLICE MAN ROBBERS.
Two robbery victims and two policemen, after a long chase, succeeded on Wednesday night in catching J. J. Barnes, 3745 Ellis avenue, and Richard Connelly, 751 East 37th street.

SOLONS RESCUE HERRIN FUND LAW IN SMALL'S DESK

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(Special.)—Gov. Small was forced today to take from a pigeonhole in his office the bill appropriating $75,000 to the attorney general's office for prosecution of the Herrin murder cases, and send it to the secretary of state's office for proper enrollment so that the money could become available immediately.

The governor had held this bill for fourteen days without action after both houses of the assembly had passed it by a two-thirds vote.

A senate committee went to the governor's office and stated the nature of its errand. He called his secretary, George D. Sutton, and asked:

"Where is that bill?"

"In the office," said Sutton.

"Do you mind if it is taken at once to the secretary of state?" asked Senator Dalley.

"I don't care anything about that bill," said the governor. "Take it."

FRANK L. SMITH AND GOV. SMALL AT OUTS, REPORT

Springfield, March 8.—(Special.)—Rumors of a break between Gov. Small and Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, coupled with gossip that Mayor Thompson of Chicago will replace Smith as head of the commission after the April election, stirred the state capital and departing legislators today.

Vigorous denials came from the executive office that there is any friction between the governor and Col. Smith or that there is any foundation for the Thompson rumor. At the same time, few political observers expressed surprise at the rumors that Smith soon would sever connections with the state administration.

Ever since 1920 Col. Smith has been regarded as a sure starter in the Republican gubernatorial race next year. Gov. Small has ambitious for a second term and there has been no indication that Smith intends to do any campaigning for the governor.

The Leopardess

BY KATHERINE NEWLIN BURT

SYNOPSIS.
Olalla, born of Scotch parents, lived with her father on one of the islands of the south seas. Her mother had died when she was a tiny child and her father had married one of the native women of the island. Olalla grew up like a native child. Erosa, a native girl, attacks Olalla in a fit of jealousy. Pepe, the cause of Erosa's jealousy, saves Olalla from a spell over the native girl and she dies that night. Olalla is as superstitious as a native and Pepe's incantations and Erosa's death terrify her.

INSTALLMENT V.
OLALLA FREES THE LEOPARDESS.

He hired a motor at the smart little station and went purring through the dusk. It was dark when he entered the great wrought iron gates and went smoothly up the driveway. As his motor swept round to the door he noticed that the lights in the front of the lower floor went abruptly out. Elsewhere they burned cordially but, as though the sound of arrival had been a spell, this front room—the one that would receive him—had gone black. He had dismissed his driver and stood hesitating for a few minutes on the wide steps. The silent darkness gave him a feeling of uneasy suspicion and suspense. He had an impulse to secrecy, and he key silently into the lock, opened the big door, and stepped softly into the great dark room.

As the door fell to behind him something leaped against him and a burning pang passed through his shoulder, grating against the bones. He reeled back gasping, feeling a warm splash of blood pour down his chest. There was a faint breathing in the room, lights blazed, and he sank down to his knees, then prone. He heard a knife clatter to the floor, heard faintly a cry of horror and amazement; he felt cold little hands searching for his wounds, afterwards his consciousness completely left him.

Scott Quigley had gone off on his fishing trip because the situation was beginning to tell even on his steel-wired nerves and unimaginative temper. He began to suffer with a passionate longing for Olalla's bodily submission, not as a gift of fear but from a woman's primitive desire for him. He was stung, after all, by her inveterate distaste. He had never, he told himself, lifted a hand against her, he had forced her except to come with him, to stay in his house, to entertain his guests. Sometimes he would not trust himself. So he went away. He never told Olalla the details of his plans; he came and went abruptly, without explanation. He would be there and was not there, as the humor took him, and for a long time now he had been the only visitor. He had never been absent more than a day or two, and when he left the house with his fishing paraphernalia she looked for nothing but a brief glimpse. She was sick, a heavy hearted languor weighed down her head and body. She dragged herself about the house, staring through open windows at the open landscape, at the sun-drenched lawns, at the flowers, at the trees, at the sky, at the sea, at the world, at the life, at the death, at the pain, at the joy, at the love, at the hate, at the hope, at the despair, at the nothingness, at the everythingness.

He heard a knife clatter to the floor, heard faintly a cry of horror and amazement.

Olalla moved abruptly, turned, opened the grated window, then swiftly unfastened the fastenings of the cage door, and ran with desperate speed along the passage. By just one desperate little act of hers one Quigley's jungle cat was free. After dinner she walked up and down the big, silent, brightly lighted room. Scott's hunting knife was up there on the wainscoted wall near his gun. She took it in her hand. The blade was short and heavy, very sharp. She could strike it into his shoulder. Oh, she sobbed, why had life, once so sunny and sweet with flowers, have turned to fear and blood?

Then she heard the motor humming up the drive. He was back already, the bad better act quickly, before she was afraid, before she saw his cold, evil, smiling eyes. She switched on the lights and came close to the door, her hand frozen around the handle of the knife.

Donald Croft, with Olalla's help, got himself upstairs and into Scott's bed, where he fainted again. When he came to, Olalla had washed and dressed his wound and was standing at the foot of the bed looking down at him with all her eyes. She held herself straight with a high head; there was no abject or apologetic line in the whole attitude.

"I thought," she said, as his eyes showed perfect consciousness of his situation and surroundings, "I thought that you were my husband." Evidently she considered this a sufficient explanation, and, winning a little as she stood against his pillow, Donald smiled, a flicker of amusement touching his hardened conviction that the poor distracted creature had meant to kill Quigley.

She evidently expected judgment and condemnation, for there began to be a nervous shrinking in her pale, thin face.

"You think I am bad, a savage, but you cannot be my judge, Mr. Croft. Nobody can be my judge. I am not sorry that I wanted to wound that man. You see, I did not plan to kill him. But I am indeed desolate that you are hurt." Abruptly tears ran down her cheeks. She wiped them steadily away. "You came to see—my husband?"

"No—to see you."

This brought her to a troubled gesture of her hands across her heart. She moved slowly away to a window, and stood there for several minutes looking at the night. She came back to his bedside, knelt down, and deliberately took his hand in her two hands and kissed it with her soft mouth.

"Thank you," she said.

He put his free hand to his eyes.

"Are you in pain?" she caught her breath—"your wound is not deep. My hand mercifully turned, something at the last second seemed to warn me. As soon as you can move you must go to see a doctor. Nobody knows that you are here or that you are hurt, because I told all the servants they could go out tomorrow. I will take care of you myself, and keep your door locked. I don't want any one to see you here, because it would be awkward for me."

Again Croft was forced to smile at her curious barbaric naivete.

"Yes, very. And for me, too."

"You must just lie quiet and let me take care of you." She smiled. "I shall like that—unless—shadowing—you are angry and hate me. Perhaps it disgusts you that I struck at my husband with a knife."

He looked at her (she was still kneeling and holding his hand) with a sad, steady, searching look of his blue eyes.

"I am not angry. I don't hate you. I am not disgusted. But, Olalla, I must know."

Her eyes fell. "You must know what—Donald Croft?"

"What spell this Scott Quigley has laid upon you that you hate him and live with him and obey him like a slave—and try to knife him in the dark. I must know, Olalla. I am your friend, and you have hurt me. So, you see, you must tell me the whole truth. Then, perhaps, I can help you and your husband."

"Oh!" she used a little native exclamation, soft and desperate, "he does not need help. It is too horrible to tell. It would give you a fever. Now I am wasting away, just from the knowledge of it—and she held her thin arm, pulling up a long floating lace sleeve and smiling up at him with her alien smile, so different in its childlike natural self pity from the smiles of other white women.

THE GUMPS—THAT'S ALL THERE IS

Chicago '400' Is 4,000, Says Mrs. Moffett

Easy to Break In Now, Medill School Told.

How many Chicagoans belong to the "400"? Four thousand, at least, according to India Moffett, society editor of The Tribune, who discussed society in detail last night before the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern university.

"The number who dwell in the rarified atmosphere is increasing each day," she said, "for since the war it has become comparatively easy for outsiders to get in."

"Breaking in today doesn't mean, however, what it did twenty years ago, for there is no inner circle now. Society is more democratic or more money worshipping or more something which makes it willing to accept money and power in place of birth and breeding, and today society is the climbers' paradise."

"A democratic society which respects ambition and artistic achievement is splendid, but one that respects only material success is worse than the old fashioned society that insisted one be able to trace his ancestry back for generations."

"There is no social ladder in Chicago and there has been none since the death of Mrs. Potter Palmer. There seem to be a few women who are striving to place themselves on the throne she left vacant, but so far no one has attained the eminence of her."

Mrs. Moffett gave the audience a glimpse of the routine work of a society editor's job and let it in on a few of her pet aversions.

"Attempted bribery" is way up on the list, she said, and it is astonishing the number of persons who believe it is necessary to pay to have social news printed.

"I have been offered bribes ranging from $1 to $500," she explained. "Another reason society editors tear out their hair is that, despite their best efforts, practical jokers occasionally cause them to print false announcements of weddings and engagements."

Mrs. Moffett said: "We must check and recheck all items, no matter how small," she stated, "because accuracy is the greatest requisite."

Good morning! This picture isn't going to be popular with you if you're a woman. Neither will it, I imagine, make much of a hit with most men. It's a near satire on the female of the species and makes her out an awful kiddy cat with not many brains and a capacity for loving that measures up exactly to the standard of the inferred universal feminine queries. "How much does he MAKE?" or "Has he a title?"

A picture of this kind has to be shrewdly handled to get across. It should clinch its arguments with a dash of humor, and it is a pity that the picture, as it is, is a little more than a little over the top.

It might be described as "just a moving picture," with the emphasis on the "just."

REALLY, I don't think it worth any more space than it has been given. See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUP. They call La Negri "The Negri" in Hollywood, and it is said she is a bit difficult to manage. When she acts, HOW she can act! The question is—when WILL she act? Not on the set of the clock by any chance. Not "The Negri." She has to feel in the mood before she will deign to grace the set or location with her distinguished presence. And they also DO say—beez-ee-zee-zee—that the row and Gloria Swanson are having over cats is something terrible!

Gloria adores cats and feeds 'em. Pola hates them, is afraid of them, and has them chloroformed. It's a wise kitty that minds its P's and Q's at Lasky's these days!

Mary Miles Minter, yearning for independence, now occupies her own apartment. Mary says it isn't because she doesn't get along with her mother—but that she's a big girl now, and wants her own belongings in her own rooms. In other words, she would be FREE.

Judge Favors Extension of Rent Laws

Sees Continued Need to Protect Tenants.

Tenants, those in particular facing May 1 rent boosts, and all others in general, are being urged by various agencies to support an effort to perpetuate state legislation which, according to Judge Richard P. Barasa, has "curbed profiteering landlords during the last two years."

Unless extended during the present legislative session, certain amendments affecting landlord and tenant will automatically fall from the statute books July 1. They were enacted as temporary measures in 1921.

While not fathoming the movement to have these amendments remain in force for another two years, Judge Barasa, who presides over the renters' court, last night said he heartily approves it.

The provisions referred to number four, as follows:

1. Leaves it within court's discretion to permit tenants as much as six months to vacate in case of disagreement with landlord, instead of five days as formerly provided, and also empowers the judge to fix for that period what he regards reasonable rent.

2. Requires landlords to give month-to-month tenants sixty days' notice (instead of thirty) of termination of tenancy.

3. Suspends operation of the old provision imposing double rent for the period the tenant retained possession after ordered to vacate—if the landlord is sustained in court.

4. Insures the right to trial by jury, which, however, never was seriously questioned.

Judge Barasa said belief that these provisions will be wiped out July 1 is prompting speculators to "gauge" tenants.

Prospective rent increases brought the first indirect retaliation yesterday in the form of a demand for higher wages from union carpenters.

The Chicago Carpenters' District council served notice upon contractors that beginning April 1 the scale would be $12.50 an hour, the rate in force prior to the last award.

Harry Jensen, president of the council, announced that a referendum on the increased scale resulted in a vote of 11,800 in favor and 150 against. The rise is 15 cents an hour.

The Citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award began seeking skilled mechanics yesterday.

Search Is Started for Musical Genius Unknown to Fame

New York, March 8.—A search of the nation for composers of music whose genius has gone undiscovered was announced tonight by promoters of the Stadium concerts at the College of the City of New York.

This search for hitherto unrecognized music of high standard will be accompanied by a quest for singers or players of musical instruments whose merit has been hidden.

Composers whose scores meet with approval of a committee of judges will have their music played in the stadium by the New York Philharmonic orchestra. Vocalists and instrumentalists who prove their merit will be granted to sing or play with the Philharmonic.

In making the announcement Adolph Lewisohn and Mrs. Charles S. Guggenheimer said all composers, American born or naturalized, would be given an immediate hearing and that any one in America might compete.

Orchestral scores of American composition that never have been played will be examined under conditions that will exclude the slightest favoritism. All manuscripts must be sent to Mrs. William Coven, chairman of the score committee, in the Flak building, before May 1.

Other conditions attached to the competition are:

Each score must be signed by a non-deplume.

Each must be accompanied by a sealed envelope, containing the composer's name and address, and the non-deplume placed on the manuscript.

Any form of composition may be chosen, suitable for orchestral performances. Score must not exceed twenty-five minutes in length.

The winning composers must give the Stadium concerts the right of performance.

Caruso Art Sale Ends with $151,148 Receipts

New York, March 8.—[Special.]—The Caruso art sale at the American Art galleries closed today with sales totaling $151,148. Early Italian Renaissance bronzes, many of them formerly in the Morgan collection, limoges enamels, armor, watches, and snuff boxes constituted the bulk of the afternoon's offerings and produced $57,669.

Moscow Art Theater Due Here April 17

Will Have Two or Three Weeks at Auditorium.

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

The players of the famous Moscow Art theater will begin a Chicago engagement at the Auditorium on Tuesday, April 17. They will remain for two weeks and may, if it seems advisable, extend the time to three.

Tolstoy's spectacular and highly emotional "Tsar Fyodor Ivanovich" will be the bill for the opening night, after Gorky's "The Lower Depths" (also known in this country as "Night Lodging") and Tchekhoff's "The Cherry Orchard" will be given in the order named.

These arrangements, confirming and amplifying THE TRIBUNE'S announcement of two days ago, were made known yesterday at a luncheon at the Blackstone at which Morris Gest, who brought the company to America, conferred with members of the local committee which is bringing it to Chicago.

It was the urgency of this committee which induced the organization to undertake a trip westward. The players' prospects in New York have been enormous and, since the Russian government has limited their stay in America, there was no need, or intention, of attempting a tour. Similar pleas from Boston and Philadelphia have now been accepted to, however, and these cities will be visited during the first two weeks in April.

Mr. Gest spoke briefly of the amazing difficulties which he encountered in getting the troupe out of Russia and into the United States. He urged that no "benefits" or society sponsorship be arranged for the Chicago engagement, agreeing only that the boxes for each performance be sold for charity.

"I don't want anyone there that doesn't want to come," he said. "And I hope to God people in Chicago won't insist on inviting the actors out. They hate that."

THEATER NOTES. Various special playlets have been devised for the actors' fund benefit, to be given at the Auditorium a week from today. One, "The House of Mystery," is a travesty on the current epidemic of thrillers and will be acted by an impromptu company headed by Walter Catlett. Miss Miriam Loyie, Ralph Morgan, and Robert Middlemass will appear in a romance called "The Foxy of the Fool," and an unnamed skit will enlist the services of Miss Ina Claire, Arthur Byron, Miss Ethel Wilson, Hale Hamilton, Frank Loebe, Frank Burbeck, and James Durkin. The usual impressive array of "stunts" by other stage notables is promised.

Actors from most of the Chicago theaters spent the afternoon at the Olympic yesterday, observing a performance of Wilde's "Salome" by the colored players whose venture in stock on the south side collapsed recently. The proceeds of the matinee were used to satisfy claims for unpaid salaries.

Floyd Dell's "King Arthur's Socks," Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband," and Sada Cowan's "Sintram of Skagerrak," will be presented tonight and tomorrow and Sunday nights by the Ashland players at 407 South Ashland avenue.

Doris Blake Says:

TODAY IS LUCKY FOR THE THIRTY.

The sun in parallel with Saturn rule today in benefic aspect, according to astrology. Venus and Mars, too, are friendly.

It is a way to dispel thoughts of uncertainty and anxiety where business affairs are concerned. Thrift and conservation of resources are recommended, instead of finding fault with the powers which regulate the finances of the country.

Those whose birthday it is have the augury of a good year if patience, tact, and thrift are practiced.

Children born on this day have a faculty for keeping out of trouble, attending their own affairs, and thus attaining great success.

You whose birthday it is, according to astrology, have an active mind, shrewd tact; you are honest, genuine, and frank. If a clergyman, you are apt to have socialistic leanings and be severe in your arraignment of wrong and tyranny. Not many rich men will be found in your congregation. You have a lively disposition, fond of romance, travel and adventure. You have a large stock of vitality, but you must be careful not to wear yourself out prematurely. You are quick to see opportunity and quick to practice it. Your psychic nature is strong and your intuitive nature keen, and these qualities save you from making enemies.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

ANXIOUS: I AM CONTINUALLY being surprised with the number of requests for a cure for nail biting. It must be nervousness that makes grownups indulge in the disgusting habit. Pride in nails should help. But if you need something better to put on, here it is: Alcohol, 1 1/2 ounces; camellidol, 1/4 ounce; gum mastic, 1/4 ounce; Mix, let stand forty-eight hours, shaking bottle occasionally. Apply with camel's hair brush. This can be removed with alcohol or hot water.

P. J. M.: I DON'T BELIEVE THE moderate use of cosmetic powders is harmful to the skin. In fact, they furnish an appreciable protection to the skin against the ravages of wind and sun. A good powder will not clog the pores and certainly an unpowdered, shiny face is not a pretty thing to behold. If the face is washed thoroughly at night blackheads will not form.

HEAVY: TOO MUCH SLEEP WILL make you as dull as little 't' From fourteen to fifteen hours is too much time out of the allotted twenty-four at your age. From eight to nine hours is the required amount for the average individual. There is something wrong when you require more than that.

I wish you would advise me what to do, as I like the young man very much.

One afternoon our neighbor, who has a son of 4, came to visit my mother, bringing a pattern of a suit of rompers for my brother, who is 3. The young son came with her, and while the mothers were serving the children played. Next day Harold's mother said to him, "Why don't you go and play with Bobby?" "Aw, he's set out up in bed and shouted, "Hey, you rascal, you needn't cock-a-doodle me; I'm up."

Society to Sell All Moscow Art Theater Boxes to Aid Charity

The Chicago committee which has organized the Moscow Art Theater to bring the famous Russian troupe to Chicago for a two weeks' engagement at the Auditorium, starting April 17, is planning to sell the boxes for all the performances and give the proceeds to various local charities. Several members of the committee, including Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. John Borden, Mrs. George Anderson, Arthur T. Aldis, Arthur Russell, Antonia Bartholomew, and Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Head, conferred with Mr. Gies at luncheon yesterday at the Blackstone, and Mrs. Anderson was appointed chairman of the box committee. Society undoubtedly will make a great social affair of the engagement of the Russian artists. Some of the members of the committee are Mrs. Emmerson Blaine, Mrs. Samuel Russell, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Charles H. Wacker, Potter Palmer, Mrs. F. Porter, Mrs. Clara Hough, Mrs. Alice Gerstenberg, Miss Grace Temple, Frederick A. Stock, and Prof. Samuel N. Harper.

The third of six demonstration lectures in electrical cookery, with tables of appliances, at the north side branch of the School of Domestic Arts and Science, will be given this morning at 10 o'clock. The instructor, Miss Hagar, will teach the class how to cook oysters, a salad, four kinds of sandwiches, and a dessert. Mrs. Jessie Barnes and Mrs. John D. Kales are in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Edward Bemis will open her residence at 5647 Kenmore avenue this afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock for an international tea and musical for the benefit of the New America Shop. The Elementary and Home Education association will hold an "at home" today from 4 to 6 o'clock at the residence house, 701 Rush street. Mrs. Margaret J. Stannard of Boston will speak on "Educational Girls for Living." The Alliance Francaise announces its eighth in the series of French recitals at its rooms this afternoon at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "Quelques Poésies d'Emile Pagnat" by Mrs. Claire Blumet. These recitals are free and open to the public.

There will be a tea at the College club this afternoon from 4 to 5:30 o'clock for Henning Ryden of New York, who will have with him a can of two of his own and will speak on "The Trend of Painting in New York Today." Miss Marjorie Lane and Mrs. Ainsworth Clark will be hostesses.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra will give a musical and reception for Mrs. F. W. Rickard, S. C. O'Connell of New York and J. F. Carr of Portsmouth, O. Mr. and Mrs. Carr will reside at 6723 Paxton avenue.

Prof. John Berden of Yale, David Bales of Scanton, Pa.; Russell Tyson, president of the Chicago Harvard club, and William S. Wardell III, president of the Princeton club, will be the principal speakers at the annual banquet of the Yale Club of Chicago tonight at the Drake.

The entertainment and building committees of the Country club of Evanston have planned an interesting entertainment for tonight to take place at the Woman's club auditorium. A musical interlude has been arranged showing scenes, groups, and portraits from the early days of the club's history and the architect's picture drawings and floor plans for the proposed new clubhouse.

Invitations have been issued for a series of programs to be given in connection with an exhibit of paintings by Raymond Jonson opening Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Grace Blosk studios under the direction of Sorman Alexandroff. Sunday evening Antoin Barthelemy will give "An Appreciation" and Miss Ruth Breyer, pianist, violinist, Louis Luntz, pianist, and Arthur Becker, accompanist, will give a musical program. Programs also will be given Tuesday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights next week and Tuesday and Friday the following week.

Wallace Rice will give ten lectures in English words and their uses at the Blackstone Thursday afternoons at 8 o'clock, beginning next Thursday.

HOW TO WIN A MAN

This is the first of a series for lonely girls by Doris Blake, who has been counselor of young women for years. Her advice is eagerly sought by young women readers of The Tribune on "How to Win a Man."

BY DORIS BLAKE.

As editor of the lonely department of THE TRIBUNE for years, I have been the confidante of hundreds of thousands of girls, boys, men, and women. I read thousands of letters each year, of thousands of letters, and have answered them, and I can truthfully say that I know no shade of emotion, or phase of life, no questions of right or wrong or love or passion or desire that I have not come across in some form or other in this correspondence.

Contrary to an oft heard rumor the letters I receive are real letters, the people who write me are real people, worried, puzzled, distraught, with griefs and woes, with problems they cannot solve and longing they cannot satisfy.

Out of this vast quantity of mail I receive I am more and more impressed with the appalling loneliness there is in the world. The lonely letters I get in a year would fill volumes, each a little different from the rest, perhaps, but the bulk of them from girls and boys wanting to know now and where they can meet other decent girls and boys, pass their evenings in healthy amusement, and meet in a legitimate way the future sharer of their joys and sorrows.

I know from my correspondence and from observation there is a vast army of girls, good girls, nice girls, wholesome, normal, healthy girls, who undoubtedly would make most excellent wives and mothers, but who fall of this nobility of ambitions through causes which they are apt to blame an unkind fate.

But in truth they actually fail to interest men because the impulse or instinct for guidance in how to attract men is either deeply buried in difficulty or in an artificial culture which has taught them to suppress every natural tendency toward inspiring a man's interest in them.

"How can I become popular?" write thousands of "Blue Eyes" and "Brown Eyes" and "Discouraged" and "Unhappys." And "How can I win a man?" Over and over again I am petitioned for help.

Some discouraged one will ask if it is because she is not beautiful she fails to attract. If it is because she does not wear expensive clothes. "Heartbroken" touch my heart with that saddest story of youth forgotten, in the hour of pleasure, deserted, neglected, while companions pass her by laughing, dancing and chatting merrily with devoted suitors.

"Lonely," thousands of her, unfolds the heart anguish of having to sit in a room where she alone of all the school chums remains the one unmarried member of the set, and waiting marriage and children more than anything else in the world.

The pity of it is that more often than not the girl herself, and not fate, is at fault. By her manner toward men she creates an enemy of Cupid instead of an ally. The fault may not be a conscious one, it is true.

In a series of which this serves as introduction I am going to try to help lonely girls, unpopular ones, unhappy, worried and heartbroken ones, to a better understanding of human nature and the effective application of this understanding in the winning and holding of men's interest.

Winning men is an art, a comprehensive and a developed art, but not a difficult one if the principles are pursued adroitly, as I shall explain how we go along.

While beauty and expensive clothes may play a part in attracting certain types of men, the fact remains that the happiest wives are not the famous beauties.

The successful marriages are not notoriously those of the exquisite Venus proportioned and the son of the richest man in the community.

You look about you and you see reserved women, silent women, plain women, poorly educated and penniless women being established in homes of their own day after day and year after year.

Instead of resigning herself to the erroneous belief that this all comes

Spanish Women

Seek Voice in Running Nation

MADRID, March 8.—The feminist associations of Spain will open a campaign throughout the country to further their political aims.

A meeting held here under the auspices of the Marquesa del Ter, president of the Union of Spanish Women, resolved to demand a declaration from the government regarding its attitude toward the feminist movement. Upon the government's reply, it was said, would depend the attitude of the women during the approaching parliamentary elections, in which they intend to intervene.

Women possess no political rights in Spain, but they contend they are able to bring a powerful influence to bear on the elections.

Working Girl Crowned Mid-Lent Queen of Paris

PARIS, March 8.—Industry, instead of beauty, was crowned queen of Paris at today's celebration of the traditional mid-Lent or Mi-Careme fête.

Working girls, selected on merit from various sections of the city, were dressed as "bees" and in carriages decorated with leaves and flowers were paraded through the principal streets and boulevards. Later a "queen bee" was elected and, escorted by the cortege, went to the Elysee palace, where she was received by President Millerand.

STOCK EXCHANGE HEAD DENIES BIG BROKER LOSSES

New York, March 8.—(Special.)—Replying today to the statement made yesterday by the Attorney General that $3,000,000 had been lost to the public through brokers since the war, Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the New York Stock exchange, addressing members of the Merchants' association at a luncheon at the Hotel Astor, said:

"The actual fact is that during fifteen months of demoralization following the great market of 1921, there were more than 29,000 failures in all classes of business, excluding banks, in the United States, involving losses of $17,000,000, while the net loss to the public through the failure of stock exchange firms during that period will prove to be about $3,000,000."

Says Exchange Is Essential.
Mr. Cromwell defended the existence of the New York exchange as essential and said that the market must not be destroyed by legislation. He stated:

"As soon as legislation can be devised in which the operations of legitimate business men shall be divorced in the provisions of the bill from the operations of swindlers at which bills should be actually aimed, then all of Wall street will rally to the support of such legislation, and to those who propose it, and I believe that such legislation can be devised."

Enforcement a Failure.
"Even worse than the modern passion for legislation is the 'lethargy of unenforcement.' We have on the statute books of New York every law which is necessary to defeat the swindler, protect the investor, put the crook in jail, and clean up not only what is called 'Wall street,' but any other section of the city and state which may be the haunts of even the most powerful crooks. The Martin law, if enforced, would be an almost complete weapon."

He urged all business men to take shares in the better business bureau, created in the financial district to investigate illegitimate business houses.

OIL INTERESTS JOIN TO COMBAT 'RADICAL TREND'

Platform Opposed to U. S. Control.

Producing oil interests of the United States organized compactly yesterday in Chicago to combat alleged radicalism within the industry. The purpose of the organization, as officially announced, is to place at the highest possible level the business methods of production and sale of oil products. Opposition to any attempt at governmental regulation of prices or of governmental control of producing wells is understood to be a fundamental plank in the platform of the organization completed yesterday at the Congress hotel.

La Follette Is Assailed.
The high point of antagonism to proposed governmental control was reached last night when former Gov. Charles H. Brough of Arkansas, started on the trail of Senator Robert M. La Follette, when he addressed the banquet of the oil men in the Gold Room of the Congress, which closed the convention.

"The activities of such demagogues as Robert M. La Follette," former Gov. Brough said, "who since 1917 have dwelt in the twilight zone of American patriotism, and who, by his unpatriotic attitude during the world war, did everything in his power to make impossible the heroic achievements of our boys on such memorable fields as Chateau Thierry, the Meuse-Argonne and Belleau Wood, in smoke screening the heroism of our American institutions, stirring up class hatreds and animosities toward established business and proclaiming, in effect, that 'ruin shall be the penalty of success,' are destined ultimately to demoralize industry, throttle energy and threaten to end individual initiative and enterprise."

Completion of the organization of the "American Oil Men's association" was effected at the evening session by election of officers.

H. M. McKenzie of Superior, Wis., was elected president. Other officers are: First vice president, W. H. Barber, Minneapolis, Minn.; second vice president, A. J. Callaghan, Jackson,

Old King Tut Leaps Into Fame

The man of the hour is undoubtedly that late King of Egypt whose combined residence and tomb was lately opened to newspaper reporters and others. "The most remarkable man in the world today is King Tut-anh-Amen," flatly announces one newspaper editor. "Almost overnight he has obtained a position of eminence surpassing that of the President of the United States, or the Premier of Great Britain, or Charlie Chaplin, or Jack Dempsey. His leap into fame has been even more spectacular than that of Dr. Crou."

By way of corroboration of this very generally held opinion of the popular King, dress-makers are bringing out Tut-anh-Amen costumes, an enterprising silk manufacturer is advertising, with an interesting variation on the name, "Tu-tank-ha-men" silks (Reg. App. for U. S. Pat. Off.), a whole act of a New York musical comedy has been cut so that a new Tut-anh-Amen episode can be put in, he is said to be slated for the movies, poems galore have been written about him, Margot Asquith has appeared in London wearing a gown draped, at least in part, after the manner of the popular young King's kilts, while babies, suburbs, restaurants, apartment houses, and parlor cars are being named after him, and it is confidently predicted that there will soon be a King Tut cigar. The simple fact is the King is all the rage, in spite of his age of some three thousand four hundred years.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST this week (March 10th) there are two live news-articles, graphically illustrated, which tell all about this famous King of Egypt and of the splendors in historic treasures which have been unearthed in his tomb. Other news-articles of great interest in this number are:

Are Your Floors a Pleasure or a Problem?

THOSE soft wood floors that you have so much trouble with—why don't you put linoleum on them?

When you put down a floor of modern linoleum in the modern way, you at once do away with a number of worries that go with bare, soft wood floors.

Linoleum floors do not need to be painted. They do not need expensive refinishing. They do not warp, or splinter or crack. Linoleum floors are handsome, durable, and easy to clean. An occasional waxing and polishing keeps them in fine condition, and with a little of this care they will mellow and their appearance will actually improve with age.

The same fabric rugs you use now can be thrown over your linoleum floors—but with this advantage: The linoleum floors are warm, resilient, and quiet. In the new patterns they are a note of cheer and color in the room.

When properly laid, they are permanent and waterproof. A vacuum cleaner or a broom quickly removes every bit of dirt from the smooth, non-slippery surface. Dust does not work into linoleum. Threads do not cling to it.

Perhaps you need to see some of the new patterns in Armstrong's Linoleum to appreciate the amount of comfort and convenience these floors will give you. Ask any good linoleum merchant to show you Armstrong's Linoleum in the patterns made especially for bedrooms, living-rooms, dining-rooms, and sun porches. Find out how reasonable is the cost of laying a linoleum floor in any room where the present floor is not all it should be.

Write for free sample and booklet. Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum, and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old," containing a score of colorplates of distinctive designs that you can see at good stores; Jaspés, carpet inlaid, and painted patterns; linoleum rugs, printed and inlaid; also information on laying linoleum, and how to care for your linoleum floors.
